PACIFIC MILLS INCLUDES ALL EMPLOYEES IN NEW OFFER

Agrees to Restore Wages in Effect Previous to Strike in All Departments—Increase Effective October 2, Retroactive to Sept. 1—Official Statement

LAWRENCE, Aug. 23.—Prospects of a settlement of the textile strike here, as it affects the Pacific Mills, appeared brighter today when the strategy board of the United Textile Workers of America voted to recommend acceptance of the company's offer to restore the old rate of wages to all employees, effective October 2, and retroactive to September 1.

LAWRENCE, Aug. 23.—The Pacific Mills today offered the wage rate in effect previous to the textile strike to all employees, effective October 2, retroactive to Sept. 1.

New Warrant Ordered for Man Charged With Assault and Battery—Liquor Case Continued—Other Cases in the District Court

A new complaint for threatening was ordered by Judge Enright today against Harry Haugastian, who was already charged with assault and battery on his wife. The man, who is out on bail, had left the courtroom when his son informed the judge that his father had been abusing his mother since the time of the first assault and had threatened to kill her and himself. The boy said that the father had been hanging around the house with something in his pocket. It was at this point that the court ordered the new warrant and told the officers to bring the man to the station. The (Continued on Page 9)

MILK PRODUCERS AND DEALERS' OUTING

Close to 100 milk producers and dealers of this city attended the outing of the milk handlers of the Merrimack valley, which was held at the Martin Luther grounds in Tyngsboro this afternoon. The Lowell men left the city at 1 o'clock after meeting the producers and dealers of Lawrence, Haverhill and Newburyport, who came over the road, passing through this city on their way to the neighboring towns.

Upon reaching the grounds greetings were exchanged between the excursionists from this end of the valley and those from Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H., and a general good time followed.

There were over 600 men from all over the valley in attendance. At noon a buffet luncheon was served and late in the afternoon a clam bake was in order. Sports of all kinds were carried out and suitable prizes were awarded the winners of the various events. The committees in charge of arrangements consisted as follows: Guy H. Richardson, Napoleon J. LaVoie and James E. Moody, Lowell; Fred A. Zerr and R. E. Carleton, Lawrence; George M. Wason and J. E. Hulsey, Haverhill; F. R. Harriman and E. C. Blake, Concord; N. H. D. Hillyard and G. E. Magoon, Manchester; N. H. G. McKay and W. T. Boyd, Nashua; N. H. D. J. Collins, Newburyport.

REPORT WINSLOW COMMISSION BILL

House Rules Committee Reversed Itself After First Favoring Bland Bill

Winslow Measure Calls for Commission Composed of Impartial Representatives

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—After first voting to give preference to the Bland coal investigation bill, providing for an investigation commission on which miners and operators would be represented, the house rules committee reversed itself today and reported out the Winslow administration bill for a commission composed entirely of impartial representatives of the public.

The committee also brought an open rule, however, which would permit amendment of the Winslow measure to provide for representation of miners and operators. By this action, the question as to whether such representation should be prohibited as insisted upon by President Harding, was put squarely before the house.

National Funeral With Full Military Honors to Be Accorded Free State Chief, Assassinated Near Cork

MICHAEL COLLINS

MICHAEL COLLINS ASSASSINATED

(EDITORIAL)

Words can but feebly express the feeling of horror and dismay that comes to every true friend of Ireland at the news of the assassination of Michael Collins, the foremost of Ireland's patriot leaders, her greatest soldier and statesman, shot from ambush by the band of irregulars whose policy seems to be one of general destruction of life and property as a means of overthrowing the Free State and in a measure perhaps as a reprisal for the death of Harry Boland.

This foul deed is one that will stir the Irish people to a greater determination than ever to defend and assert the practical statesmanship and the national policies for which Michael Collins gave his young life. The death of Collins is the climax of Irish tragedy, and one of the blackest and most deplorable in all Ireland's checkered history. It would seem that in this tragic deed, a blow has been struck at the heart and the life of the Irish Nation although the perpetrators will doubtless try to justify it even as Booth, the assassin of President Lincoln, seemed to glory in his deed as he exclaimed "sic semper tyrannis."

Had Collins fallen in his battles with the alien oppressors of his native land, his death would be regarded as one of the natural consequences of legitimate warfare; but to be shot down by his own deluded countrymen and perhaps by some of the men with whom he had fought shoulder to shoulder against the British, his assassination is a national calamity and a disgrace, the ignominy of which is simply inexpressible.

What will be the result? It may be a period of anarchy which will recall the British to mow down the innocent and guilty alike. If the irregulars succeeded in destroying the Free State, what have they to offer? Nothing but an ideal which can be realized only after destroying the British empire. Michael Collins and Arthur Griffith saw this, and practical men that they were, they decided to take what they could get even though it fell somewhat short of the national aspiration. They saw that the establishment of the Free State would not destroy the national ideal, would not change the final aspiration for complete independence, but rather prepare the people and the nation for its ultimate consummation.

Michael Collins is dead and in his passing Ireland has lost one of her most able, courageous and romantic sons, a patriot of wonderful ability and resource for a man of his years. In his character he combined the wise statesmanship of O'Connell with the fire, the chivalry and lovable qualities of Robert Emmet. When on last Friday, an attempt was made upon the life of Collins, there was no word of protest from Mr. De Valera, whose attitude in reference to this national tragedy is now a matter of world-wide interest. In this calamity Mother Erin can only mingle her moans with the sound of the waves that lash her shores and pray as she has done through the centuries, for deliverance from suicidal strife with the dawning of freedom's day and the restoration of peace and order everywhere within her shores. But the cause is not lost. The home and sinew of Ireland were behind Griffith and Collins and over their hallowed graves, will the people, stirred to highest indignation, pledge anew their devotion and fidelity to the principles for which those brave men sacrificed their lives.

Death Terrible Blow to Ireland Coming so Soon After Griffith's Death

Dash and Personal Disregard for Danger Endured Him to Ireland

Will Be Buried in the Glasnevin Cemetery at Side of Arthur Griffith

DUBLIN, Aug. 23.—(By the Associated Press).—A national funeral with full military honors will be accorded to Michael Collins who was assassinated yesterday, it was stated this afternoon. His body will lie in state prior to interment in the Glasnevin cemetery, where Arthur Griffith was buried a few days ago.

"FORGIVE THEM," SAID COLLINS

Last Words Uttered by Chief Few Minutes After Bullet Pierced His Skull

City of Dublin Stunned by Murder of Commander-in-Chief of Free State Army

CORK, Aug. 23. (By the Associated Press).—"Forgive them." These were the last words of Michael Collins, uttered a few minutes after a bullet fired by an irregular, had pierced his skull. They were addressed to Major General Dalton.

The assassination occurred last night between Marston and London, about 20 miles from this city.

Collins was accompanied by members of the Free State headquarters staff, who were visiting various military positions in the south of Ireland. Large numbers of republican irregulars ambushed the commander-in-chief's party en route to London. An armored car, which was accompanying the national army officials, inflicted heavy casualties upon the irregulars. Just as the attack was beaten, the bullet struck Mr. Collins and he expired a few minutes later.

Dublin Stunned

DUBLIN, Aug. 23. (By the Associated Press).—The city of Dublin is stunned today by the news that Michael Collins, chief of the Irish provisional government and commander-in-chief of the Free State army, was struck down from ambush, last night, by an assassin's bullet at London, County Cork. The tragedy was all the more shocking coming so soon after the sudden death of Arthur Griffith, president of the Dail Eireann cabinet, who was considered Collins' intellectual counterpart in the arduous task of setting up the new Free State government.

Elaborate Tributes
The Dublin newspapers paid elaborate tribute to the slain leader. The Irish Times says: "The death of Michael Collins is a disaster for Ireland. Irishmen the world over will mourn him and will sink their heads in shame at the deep damnation of his taking off. That he (Continued on Page 9)

DOHERTY SAYS MORE MONEY NEEDED FOR STREET DEPARTMENT

Superintendent of Streets Claims He Has Shaved Payroll to Lowest Possible Point—Tells Where Money Has Gone—Mayor Brown Takes Issue With Statement

More money must be obtained by the street department this year. At least that is the contention of Harry P. Doherty, superintendent of the department. When asked what would happen if the money were not forthcoming, he said that he would rather wait until that time arrived before giving his opinion. When interrogated as to how the money was to be obtained he simply shrugged his shoulders and said that his board would probably ask for it at its meeting in September. Several weeks ago Doherty was ordered to keep down the street maintenance payroll to about $4000 for, according to the public service board and its clerk, if this wasn't done, there would not be enough money left to carry the department through the year.

Certain Transfers
However, as far as can be learned, the street maintenance payroll has not arrived at the $4000 mark as yet, but Spmt. Doherty said today that he had made certain transfers of men to (Continued on Page 9)

Trouble on Southern Railway Clears Away as Rail Executives Gather in New York to Consider Peace Proposals—Western Executives Ready to Make Concessions

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—(By the Associated Press).—Railway executives convened today at the Yale club to consider proposals for settlement of the shopmen's strike submitted last week by the running trades acting as mediators, adjourned at 12:50 o'clock until 2:30, after a discussion lasting more than two hours.

Situation Serious
Although no official statement was forthcoming, it was reported that certain counter-proposals had been under discussion. This was taken to indicate that the executives were not accepting the suggestions made by the (Continued on Page 9)

Bethlehem Steel - Increases Wages

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Aug. 23.—The Bethlehem Steel Corporation today announced an increase of 20 per cent in the wage rate for common labor, together with an equitable adjustment in the rates of other classes of its employees, effective Sept. 1.

1920-22 Wage Scale Posted in Coal Mines

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23.—The scale committee of the Pittsburgh Coal Producers' Association today ordered the 1920-22 scale posted at all mines owned and operated by its members, but declined to yield to the demands of the United Workers that the check-off provision of the scale be enforced. About 45,000 union miners are affected.

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—John F. Tyler, who came to the Roxbury police station last night and told the police that he was the man who killed Ordway Hall, a store manager, in 1917, was under observation at the psychopathic hospital today. He told a rambling story. Jesse Murphy was recently brought to this city from Philadelphia where he made a signed confession that he shot and killed Hall and Thomas J. Foley, another store manager.

Says Woman's Death "Horrible Accident"

GREELEY, Colo., Aug. 23.—From his cell where he is held on a charge of first degree murder, A. J. Lowe, an insurance agent, today declared the death on July 2, of his sister-in-law, Edna J. Skinner, 22, school teacher, was a "horrible accident."

Hotels Forced Back to American Plan

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 23.—Prohibition gradually is forcing hotels back to the American plan, according to delegates assembled here for the annual convention of the International Stewards' convention, which entered upon its second day today. "The eating habits of the American hotel guests have been changed by the Volstead Act," declared C. H. Harrington, a New York enterer. "The lobster supper patron, the hen brummel who dined on chicken à la king, in brief, the evening trade, is gone. Instead, the demand is for the heavy meal, or the table d'hôte dinner," he added.

Lt. Gov. Barrows May Sue Gov. McKelvie

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 23.—In a statement made public today Lieutenant Governor P. A. Barrows declared he had consulted an attorney for the purpose of bringing suit against Governor McKelvie to recover $1700 which he claims due him as acting governor while the chief executive was out of the state. Much publicity was recently attached to Mr. Barrows when it was discovered he was in the employ of a railroad at a wage of $6 a day while acting governor.

3rd Injunction Against Clothing Workers

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23.—A third injunction was granted here today placing further restrictions on the operations of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, which organization, it was alleged, has resorted to violence and intimidation in endeavoring to unionize shops in this city.

MAJ. NICHOLSON'S CASE

Said to Have Reiterated Charge of Prussianism in Army at Hearing

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—An army board of inquiry expected today to conclude its hearing of the appeal brought by Major Malcolm Wheeler-Nicholson from the action of the classification board in transferring him from Class A to B in the army list. Major Nicholson was recently court martialed as a result of a letter he is alleged to have written Pres. Harding, charging Prussianism in the army. Arguments in the appeal were to be heard today, after which the record was to be prepared for transmission to the classification board at Washington.

Major Nicholson, in a two hour personal statement to the board yesterday, was quoted as having reiterated his charges of Prussianism. "Our army today is at about the same stage as the German army found itself after the defeat at Jena," he is alleged to have said. "It is the same as the French army in 1870." He asserted that he could not understand why constructive criticism should not be welcomed in the army.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Final performances will be given this evening at the Merrimack Square theatre of "If You Believe It, It's So," starring Thomas Melhorn, Marion Davies in "The Young Doctor," the second big attraction. There will be a complete change of program tomorrow. The leading attractions for Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be "Hoot" Tarkington's noted story, "Penrod" with Wesley "Freckles" Barry in the title role, and Gustav Talmadge in "Wedding Bells."

All the brightness of American boyhood jumps to the screen in "Penrod." Demonstrating just how many escapades an enterprising American youth can get into seems to be the chief object of the story. One of the most humorous scenes shows Penrod makes his bow in amateur theatricals when Mrs. Laura Revell produces her own brain child, "The Children's Pageant of the Round Table."

Unlike modern femininity, Penrod carries a strict aversion to legs, especially when his upper trunk has a recognizable remnant from Dad's last winter's red flannel underwear. So Penrod scurries into the dressing room of the leading lady and jumps into a pair of borrowed undies about four sizes too large. In a most impressive scene the pageant, that follows Penrod's upholstered costume slips and the result is a sure laugh producer.

The fact that the local high school students recently presented "Penrod" as a stage production will give added interest to its screen portrayal at this time.

Freckles Barry in the role of Penrod is said to give the most creditable and laughable performance of his career.

"Wedding Bells," the other big feature for the week-end, gives pretty and charming Constantine an opportunity to play an exceptionally entertaining role.

The pictures of the Elka outing are creating no end of comment and general interest among all the patrons of The Strand. If you haven't seen some of your Elka friends on the screen you should not allow the opportunity to pass. See them today at The Strand. They're great. This feature is in addition to the regular semi-weekly program which includes Golden Moore in the bright, Irish comedy drama, "By Hap and Chance," called "Come On Over," and Hoot Gibson in "Step On It."

Two really good picture apicals are to be shown during the last three days of the week, beginning with matinee on Thursday. Mary Allen, who portrayed the cool of the mother in "The Old Nest" will be starred in "The Man With Two Mothers." She is to be assisted by Cullen Landis, Sylvia Breckenridge and Arthur East. The other feature will be Viola Dana in a gay comedy of embarrassments—the story of an amateur scandal-maker, entitled "Seeing Is Believing." The usual comedy and weekly will help round out a meritorious program.

In Para, Brazil, the rainy season extends over eight months of the year.

EIGHT MEN ARRESTED IN TOBACCO THEFTS

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—Four men, employees of the firm of Philip Asner & Co., tobacconists, were arrested late yesterday charged with larceny from the company and four others were arrested charged with receiving stolen goods valued at $3000. The men charged with larceny are Joseph E. and Peter Burke of Roxbury, Harold Goff of Jamaica Plain and Roger Collum of Boston. These men, with the exception of Jos. Burke, are chauffeurs. Burke is a safeman. Christopher McCarthy of Boston, Patrick J. Burke of Roslindale, David Collins of Jamaica Plain and George Mitsians of Boston, owners of small fruit stores, were those charged with receiving the stolen goods. The police say that the stealing has extended over a period of two years, and that the value of the goods stolen during that time will easily reach $10,000. The men were held in heavy bail. The University of Prague had 10,000 students in the fifteenth century.

JUDGE CROSBY GRANTS WHIPPLE'S PETITION

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—Judge Crosby of the Massachusetts supreme court yesterday allowed a motion by Sherman L. Whipple, Boston attorney, to eliminate charges made against him in amendments to the bill of equity recently filed against the H. V. Greene financial organizations seeking to recover $14,000,000 invested by 60,000 persons. He gave the plaintiff, the Boston Legal society, 30 days in which to file additional amendments. Arthur D. Hill, counsel for the society, agreed to Mr. Whipple's contention that the charges made in the amendments, to the effect that Mr. Whipple had received large and unreasonable fees in connection with the financing of the Greene concerns, could not be sustained, but said he believed there were indications that Mr. Whipple had received certain fees and profits in this connection. He asserted that Mr. Whipple was seeking a retraction in the form of a statement that there was no cause against him and added: "That I am not prepared to give." In allowing the motion, Judge Crosby said: "An attorney at law is an officer of the court and no charges ought to be brought against him without reasonable cause of believing them true. It seems that these charges were made on information that turned out to be incorrect. I am not charging anyone with intentional wrong, but it seems to me that counsel ought to be pretty well informed in such serious charges. "I think these charges admittedly without foundation, ought to be struck out of the bill. At the same time the plaintiffs have the right to offer any amendments which may make intelligible and clear the allegations of the bill or make new allegations."

GETTING AFTER RHODE ISLAND AUTOISTS

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—Notice that the Massachusetts authorities intend to enforce the motor vehicle headlights rules and regulations against, out of state cars was sent today by Frank A. Goodwin, registrar of motor vehicles in this state, to George R. Wellington, Providence, R. I., who has charge of motor vehicle law enforcement in that state. During the past few weeks there have been a marked increase in the number of complaints registered with the Massachusetts authorities, to the effect that cars bearing Rhode Island registrations have been using the roads in this state at night with glaring lights, and Registrar Goodwin has decided that drastic action is necessary to put a stop to the practice.

In his letter to Mr. Wellington, he says: "Dear Mr. Wellington: So many complaints are coming to this office about the failure of Rhode Island motorists to conform to the Massachusetts headlights rules and regulations that it will be necessary to enter upon a campaign of strict enforcement.

"I wish you would get word through the newspapers to the motorists of your state that our law must be complied with, and that we are going to prosecute for failure to do so. We are prosecuting all Massachusetts operators who do not have proper lenses and bulbs, and whose lamps are not focused properly, and there is a general feeling of discontent among Massachusetts motorists against the department for letting Rhode Island motorists violate our law with impunity.

"Hoping you will get word to your motorists, I remain,

"Very truly yours,

"FRANK A. GOODWIN, Registrar."

FRUSTRATE ATTEMPT OF NEW HIGH SCHOOL READY AGED MAN TO END LIFE FOR FALL TERM

SALEM, Aug. 23.—A strange set of circumstances combined today to frustrate the plans for suicide made by David Crowley, an aged resident at a Broad street boarding house. Sergeant Duffy of the Salem police force was expecting an important letter and requested a newspaper man to call at the postoffice early today to see if it had arrived. A clerk found no letter addressed to the "desk man" at the police station, which was taken to headquarters. It was from David Crowley, stating that he intended to end his life, and enclosing 50 cents to pay for the gas he would use. Crowley also sent a receipt for a liberty bond which was to be used to pay funeral expenses.

Patrolmen who rushed to Crowley's home, found that he had just turned on the gas and had lain down on his bed. He told the police that it would not be delivered before noon. He said that he was more than 90 years old, had no friends or relatives and was ill.

Dees that swarm in the spring make little honey.

That the new high school building will be ready for occupancy by the time the schools reopen next month is the opinion of members of the building commission, and was frequently expressed at yesterday's meeting of that body. With much of the furniture in the building's auditorium are to be lettered and numbered, and this feature of the new section is deeply gratifying to the commission.

Among other details, an attempt will be made to prevent pupils from tracking dirt into the rooms, by the purchase of mats for the corridors. The new building still lacks completed sidewalks; consequently, they cannot avoid being in the dirt. A reduction of this feature, a nuisance which must prevail for some time, is sought by the commission.

The Circus Maximus in old Rome was capable of containing 250,000 people.

Paris is said to possess more sun-dials than any other city in the world.

The strength of tarred rope is only about three-fifths that of white rope.

TWO KILLED AS TRAIN
HITS GASOLINE TRUCK

DETROIT, Aug. 22.—Two persons sustained injuries that caused their deaths and another was probably fatally injured yesterday afternoon, when the northbound Toledo-Detroit train on the Michigan Central railroad struck a motor truck loaded with turpentine and gasoline, at the Dixie highway crossing just outside of the village of Rockwood, 26 miles south of here. Both locomotive and truck burst into flames immediately after the crash.

The dead are George Engle, 50, engineer of the train, and E. Webb, 39, fireman, both of Toledo. W. J. Lehn, driver of the truck, was badly burned but with hope for his recovery is held, according to hospital authorities.

Engle was killed almost instantly, while Webb died soon after reaching the hospital.

The engineer is believed to have applied the locomotive brakes before the crash, causing the train to stop at a distance from the scene of the accident.

None of the coaches of the passenger train caught fire or left the rails, and none of the passengers was injured.

GOMPERS DENOUNCES
HARDING'S PLAN

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Aug. 23. (By the Associated Press).—Samuel Gompers yesterday told the convention of the New York State Federation of Labor that President Harding's recommendation to congress last week, to enact legislation to provide means for enforcing the decisions of the United States labor board meant to make them unenforceable as to congressmen to law, but not to their will, and if they would not work against their will, to provide for fines or imprisonment or both.

"But that does not run railroads and it doesn't produce coal," he added.

"Men and women have dared face jail and even the hangman's gall in defense of labor's rights. And that spirit is not dead, even in America."

The veteran president of the American Federation of Labor, endorsing the plan of state labor leaders to have organized workers put forth their own candidates in the elections this fall, opposed those they considered to be labor-declined Wall Street was making decisions for the state government at Albany and that these same financial interests served as a guide for Washington.

"The railway executives assume the position of being masters of all they survey as far as their attitude toward the striking shipmen is concerned," he said. "The back of them are strikes leading from Wall Street. This effort to beat the shipmen is an effort to destroy trade unionism once for all."

"I have an abiding faith that the shipmen will come out triumphant. But if by any means, they would fail, it would mean that the stationary crafts would go down first and the railroad operatives next."

The decisions of the labor board said Mr. Gompers were nearly always by votes of six to three, the three representatives of the public, which he declared, were representatives of the public, voting with the three representatives of the carriers against the trio of employees' representatives. He called the board's decisions "job handled" and referred to Chairman Hooper as a "busybody" and a "bluffer."

GOT THE K. O. FROM
"KID" MOONSHINE

Two Lowell men were found by the police in the wee small hours of yesterday morning deep in slumber on the highway between North Tewksbury and Lowell. According to their story they had imbibed too freely of moonshine and had laid down "to rest."

The police were informed of this occurrence when two men came to the station with a tale of what they thought to be a hold-up scheme on the highway. They said that they were enroute toward Lowell when they noticed a man asleep in the middle of the road. Fearing a rise, the men quickly skirted the "dreamer" and sped on their way. A short distance down the road they noticed another man curled up by the side of the road. They drove right along and reported at the police station.

Sergeant Higdon and an officer rushed to the scene and discovered that the men were intoxicated. A little distance from one of the men the police found a jug containing moonshine whiskey. The two men were taken to the station and were later released, after a sobering sleep.

The compound engine was invented by Horlicks in 1781.

TWO MORE BIG STEEL
FIRMS RAISE WAGES

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—(By the Associated Press).—Three big steel corporations, employing nearly 300,000 workmen yesterday announced a 20 per cent. wage increase for all day plants. The United States Steel corporation took the lead, but was quickly followed by the Midvale Steel and Ordnance Co., and the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co.

In the absence of Charles Schwab and Eugene Grace of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, no other official of that company would commit himself, did not know of any action that had been taken on the wage question. President Matthews of the Crucible Steel corporation said his company had taken no action "as yet."

It was generally believed in financial circles that all important independent steel firms would announce increases within a few days.

News of the increase came as a surprise to the financial district, as it was believed that adjustments in other industries had been generally downward. It was followed by slight recessions in the prices of shares.

No explanation of the increase was given by the steel corporations. It is known, however, that the increase was a result of the steel industry's long struggle with the labor shortage. When the labor shortage became acute last spring the steel industry began to show signs of rehabilitation. Temporary relief was afforded by the employment of men from other industries, but the demand for laborers in other industries, combined with the expected business revival this fall, is reported to have caused apprehension among mill managers, who feared that the higher wages elsewhere would cause sufficient desertions to hamper operations at a time when there was every prospect for heavily increased orders.

KILLED IN FALL
FROM TENTH STORY

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Charles Shapiro, of Bridgeport, Conn., either fell or jumped from the tenth floor of the Hotel Commodore early today and was killed.

WARREN SUPPORTERS
About 50 friends of Joseph E. Warren, of Bridgeport, Conn., gathered for a meeting at the hotel early today. The meeting was held in the ballroom and was addressed by William J. White, Jr., Arthur C. Spaulding and John J. Robertson. Committee were announced and it was announced that another meeting will be held in the near future. Mr. Warren was in Lowell last evening, but he did not attend the meeting.

LAWN PARTY ON SCHOOL GROUNDS

Beginning tomorrow night and continuing through Friday and Saturday nights, a lawn party, under the auspices of the Holy Trinity (Polish) church will be conducted on the school grounds in High street. Judging from the optimistic reports of the active committees, the affair promises to be a great success and the officials are looking forward to a very favorable patronage. The McAndrews Brothers are in direct charge of the party and with the able assistance of John J. Payne, a regular "bang up" lawyer, will be in charge of the party. The three nights of carnival, special and distinctive features have been arranged for each evening. The big "blowout" being scheduled for the opening, when a monster costume parade will be held through the downtown streets. The party will be a success and it is expected that a large number of people will be present. The party will be a success and it is expected that a large number of people will be present.

GEN. EDWARDS OFF FOR THE WEIRS

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—Major General Clarence B. Edwards, commanding the First Army Corps Area, left today for The Weirs, N. H., to attend a banquet to be given this evening by delegates to the annual convention of the New Hampshire American Legion. General Edwards will address the convention tomorrow.

WORKMAN INJURED
Owen B. Reed, of 152 Warwick st., employed by a construction company, which is doing work at the plant of the Lowell Gas Light company in School street, sustained a severe cut in his head and a painful injury to his leg while at his work shortly before 11:30 o'clock this forenoon. The ambulance removed him to the Lowell Corporation hospital.

EXTENSION TO HAVRE
The Boston, Massachusetts Street Railway Co. inaugurated its Wednesday excursion day this morning by sending one car over to Havre, carrying 22 persons. The car was full and the excursion was a success. The car will return early in the evening.

LITHUANIAN PARADE AS SEEN BY VISITOR

The following communication from Carl Pickens of Acton gives his impressions of the Lithuanian parade here on Sunday. See the parade through Mr. Pickens' eyes. You will enjoy his description and the splendid thought that goes with it. The communication:

To the Editor of The Sun:

I stood in one of the upper windows of a Central street restaurant last Sunday afternoon and looked down upon a moving picture that I shall never forget the spectacle, inspiring in all its solemnity as well as its colorful and somewhat spectacular details. Not being a citizen of the Spindle City, I had to inquire from my restaurant friend, who stood at my elbow, just what the demonstration was all about and who the marching people were that passed slowly by—serious and sturdy from first division to last. I was informed that the parade was a splendid march composed of a vigorous part of Lowell's citizenry—the Lithuanians. I was further enlightened when I learned that the parade was held on the Sabbath Day in recognition of the Lithuanian republic by the Lithuanian community here. And there before me, marching proudly up Central street, were the sturdy sons and daughters—and their sons and daughters—of the Lithuanian community of Lowell, an inspiring picture of the benefits of national freedom.

"Parade" they have been called by scoffing and sniggering folk, who feel that too many of these people are coming across the waters of the Atlantic to make their homes in our cities and towns. Forgive me, they are to be sure, but any American who saw last Sunday's spectacle and looked into the faces of these stalwart Lithuanians and their sons and daughters and sons as I did from my perch just above the parade columns, must be convinced that this spectacle was most inspiring.

Our country enjoys a measure of freedom and liberties not vouchsafed to many other portions of the world. People who have long been carrying heavy yokes—who have borne the burdens of actual slavery—who have suffered and died for Christian liberty and now have gained a measure of real religious and political freedom that is a wonderful thing to contemplate in these days of unworldly profits in the lands beyond the seas—must indeed be bubbling over with intense enthusiasm when they realize that they are free to stand with the peoples of the earth who can truthfully say:

"Liberty! Humanity's crowning achievement!"

I was impressed last Sunday by the respectful attention shown everywhere along Lowell streets and sidewalks to the marching throngs. Near Power's corner, men and boys removed their hats as the flags went by. Traffic was halted everywhere—hundreds of people crowded up near the curbs to wait for the columns to go by. Small boys followed the example of the Sunday throngs. There was no excitement or disorder over the colors worn by some of the paraders. Indeed, no parade that has occupied the city streets for a short time in recent years has so effectively caused a deeper impression upon the boys returned home from France.

I, one, claiming to be a humble American citizen and sometimes critical of the so-called "foreign influx" into this land of liberty, as we call it, am ashamed of these splendid people who made that solemn parade over your main thoroughfares last Sunday afternoon.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Five workmen were buried beneath the wreckage of a decorative ceiling yesterday, when the dining room of the Claridge, noted theatrical hotel at 44th street and Broadway, collapsed with a roar which could be heard for blocks, and sent forth a cloud of dust and debris which created a panic among the throngs of matinee goers.

Police reserves, firemen and volunteers joined the work of rescue, delving among the twisted metal ceiling, crushed shoring and crumbled bricks, until they found the victims of the crash and bundled them off to a hospital. One of the workmen was unconscious when found.

Fourteen members of a contractors' crew engaged in altering the dining room of the Claridge rushed from the building before the pall of dust settled over the scene.

Not waiting for a roll call, they disappeared in the crowds, giving rise to early reports that a score were missing in the crash.

All the walls of the second floor gave way with thunderous roar, hundreds of patrons of a movie house next door jumped the exits in a wild flight to safety. The panic created by the Claridge guests fleeing from the building, and the consternation of pedestrians who were enveloped in the dust cloud.

Before police reserves were able to restore order, traffic was tied up for blocks in the Times Square district. Inspectors ascribed the collapse of the ceiling to the failure of workmen properly to secure the clips with which it was held in position.

GREAT INTEREST IN KITE
FLYING CONTEST

The large crowd of children with their "aviating" kites along the banks of the Merrimack river, last night, is indicative of the great preliminary interest in the proposed kite flying contest which is to be conducted under the auspices of the local playground officials on the Alken street playstead on Monday, August 28.

Yesterday and last evening, kites of every conceivable description vied with the birds of the air in the conquest of the winds where the Merrimack shapes its course along the Lakeview avenue waterfront. At the Butler school, where the aeronautical contest is being displayed, a modern Ben Franklin interest in the science of flying kites, where the prospective contestants are especially concerned with the more unique styles of "planes," showing a skillful and careful brand of workmanship. The contest is open to all duly registered playground members and applications will be received at the office of the park commission at city hall or by any authorized supervisor.

LOWELL AD CLUB'S
ANNUAL OUTING

Frank Black, of Milford, Boston, vice president of the Associated Ad Clubs of the World, and Miss Frances Hanson, secretary of the New England Association of Ad clubs, will be guests of honor at the first annual outing of the Lowell Ad club at Willowdale on September 14. Other guests will be present from Worcester, Providence and other New England cities. No speaking and no political activities, however, will be permitted, as the day is to be given over exclusively to amusement of a varied nature. A large number of tickets have already been distributed among the members and friends of the organization, and it is expected that the outing will be a record breaker in the matter of attendance. Postcards have been sent to all members, asking them to bring a number of tickets they required and whether or not each will have an automobile to carry passengers to the grounds.

Radio Will Make War Safe

THE AIR PILOT, THE MACHINE GUNNER, THE SEAMAN IN FUTURE WARFARE MAY BE A RADIO OPERATOR SAFELY DISTANT FROM THE SCENE OF OPERATIONS.

War, in the future, will be like an old-time Fourth of July celebration. Thanks to radio.

Cannon will be thundering as of old, bombs will be bursting, machine guns, tanks, airplanes, battleships and all other instruments of warfare will continue their destruction of enemy property. No longer will they challenge human lives—unless one happens to be in the way. But no life will be in the way, because those controlling these weapons will be safely distant from the scenes of operations.

Instead of loading the guns or manning the tanks, the sailors or soldiers, our soldiers and sailors of the future will be radio operators. Sitting at panels, with tubes, coils and dials before them, they will control the firing at the front just as though they were actually in the thick of the fight. Only, instead of a company of men there will be one man—the radio operator controlling the operations of a whole "company of weapons."

Impossible?

More than a year ago the navy department demonstrated the practicability of controlling the movements of a battleship by radio. Their subject was the old battleship, town of Spanish war fame. All its moving parts were radio-equipped before the vessel was put out to sea.

All that man had to do on the battleship was start the oil burners and the engines. Then, without a man on board, the ship sailed forth off the Virginia capes. It was under the control of the radio operator on the battleship Ohio, five miles away.

For hours this ship was maneuvered into all sorts of positions and at various speeds—by the radio operator, five miles away!

No gun was fired, but naval engineers at the time expressed the belief that this could be done by radio just as easily as the ship's movements were controlled.

On the basis of this experiment, a whole fleet of radio-controlled warships can be imagined. Mine-layers, submarines and even the destructive torpedo could be directed by radio.

In fact, John Hays Hammond Jr., famous inventor, has already perfected a wireless control of torpedoes which virtually chases down the enemy submarine.

Land Warfare

On land, as well as at sea, radio could be effective. Bombs could be dropped from wireless airplanes. Guns could be exploded at will by operators miles behind the firing line. Machine tanks could raid enemy territory and destroy enemy property.

Here again, this possibility has been demonstrated. Captain R. E. Vaughan of the United States aviation service has been working on a radio-controlled tank, which, with radio-controlled machine guns on board, could be used as a dangerous weapon in war.

One danger to human life may remain. That is when, during calm intervals at night, men will have to come up to the front to inspect the day's fighting. But victory will depend, not on the killing of men, but on the destruction of enemy weapons and property.

RELICS OF JENNY LIND

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 23.—Costumes and other relics of the two Swedish nightingales, Jenny Lind and Christina Nilsson, will be displayed along with a collection of other treasures of theatrical history in Sweden's first dramatic museum which will be opened during the latter part of August. The collection is being installed in the historic old Royal theatre in the Castle of Drottningholm, which was patronized nearly 200 years ago

by King Gustav III, a famous patron of drama and the arts.

Among the interesting stage "props"

that delighted the gallery guests of the 18th century, and have been stored away in the mouldy vaults of the castle, are a dust-covered set of ocean waves and a couple of chariots, with clouds attached, for the exclusive use of the gods of Olympus. The picture collection, which includes stage settings, costume plates, portraits, etc.,

covers the theatrical history of various countries, and with respect to certain periods of French history is the most complete in the world. The theatre itself and the stage machinery will be restored to its original character.

Jenny Lind, it will be remembered, is the singer who gave music in America its first great impetus when she appeared at Castle Garden, New York, in 1850 under the management of P. T.

Barnum.

WORK ON CONFEDERATE MEMORIAL MONUMENT

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 23.—(By the A. P.)—Preparations are nearing completion for the resumption of work on the confederate memorial on the east side of Stone Mountain, an undertaking interrupted by the world war. Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, who was engaged by the United Daughters of the Confederacy, under whose auspices the monument is to be hewn out of the face of the great monolith, has already returned to Atlanta and is shaping his plans to take up the work where he was left off when Uncle Sam's demands incident to America's entry into the world war temporarily halted completion of this memorial to the heroes of another day.

Mr. Borglum is having a specially designed lens ground for the projection of figures of increased size against the side of the great mass of granite, by means of which with a powerful light photographs of models may be thrown against the face of the mountain in great sizes.

Such methods have never been used before, according to the sculptor, who is going down to the foot of the mountain to draw in the groups of heroic figures to be carved out of the side of the big rock. The work of projection has to be done at night, he said, but added that it is practicable. "Why I told the world, they could get a powerful enough light," he said.

Carving will begin either at the head of General Robert E. Lee or that of President Davis, but it has not been settled which. A crew of men has been at work for several weeks extending the scaffolding to the point on the mountain side where will rest the principal group, and various electrical and compressed air apparatus also has arrived and is ready for installation.

Mr. Borglum said. The project calls for the carving in bas-relief on the nearly perpendicular side of Stone Mountain of a colossal monumental panorama to commemorate the heroic deeds of the confederate armies. This side of the mountain affords space for a mile or more of gigantic sculptured figures of men and horses, fifty or more feet in height, with all the paraphernalia of war.

The mountain side and an extensive tract of land on the plain at the base of the mountain to provide a national park, from which to view the achievement when completed, have been dedicated to the Daughters of the Confederacy.

Stone Mountain is 15 miles east of Atlanta. It is said to be the largest solid granite monolith in the world, rising 685 feet above the surrounding plain and standing a dome-like mass of solid rock, seven miles in circumference.

CUBA TURNS TO SPAIN

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 23.—Increase in the population of Cuba, from 2,000,000 to 3,000,000, mainly through Spanish immigrants, is one of the purposes of the new secretary of state, Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, former Cuban minister at Washington.

The secretary believes that Spanish immigrants, for numerous reasons, will make the most desirable additions to Cuba's population, and is holding conferences with his colleagues on the best methods to bring these elements to the island. The necessity of checking the flow of workers from Cuban cane fields to Spain, caused by unfavorable financial conditions, and the desirability of counteracting the flood of Chinese, Japanese and Italians is being stressed by Dr. de Cespedes.

HARDING AND HIS PARTY

Here we are in the midst of the harvest season with the miners' strike and that of the railroad shop workers still in full swing. President Harding has been settling both for the past month or two and today they appear quite as far from settlement as when he first interposed as mediator. He has written letters and held numerous conferences dealing with both conflicts and on the rail strike especially, he has left the situation more complex than when he first began to deal with the executives and the heads of the railroad unions.

Nothing can more expose the weakness of the man and his lack of executive capacity than the manner in which he has muddled the strike situation from the first time he touched it. Some people refer to what Roosevelt would have done under similar conditions or what President Cleveland would have done if such a situation confronted him. It is almost an insult to the memory of either of those two great men to institute any comparison between them and President Harding. All that can be said of the present occupant of the White House is, that he is a well meaning man, that he muddles and wiggles and waffles along, always doing the best he can and that in spite of his zeal, his efforts are generally futile and frequently wrong. If the president's capacity and worth as an executive are to be rated upon his efforts to settle the two great strikes now threatening to paralyze the industries of the country, he must be set down as one of the weakest and most vacillating men who ever held the high office.

Taking the president's failure to settle the strikes in addition to the Newberry scandal and the monstrous put forth as a tariff bill by the senate after 15 months of log rolling by the predatory interests, it will appear that the republican party instead of solving the great questions of reconstruction with some business sagacity and within a reasonable time, it has failed utterly in constructive statesmanship and at a time when the industries of the nation expected to start on an era of prosperity, they are confronted with a coal famine and a general tie-up of the railroads that threaten suffering and privation to every city, town and hamlet in the land. This is a summary of republican performance at Washington since the party was placed in control of the government by one of the largest majorities in the history of the country. The people will doubtless hasten to reverse their action and to turn out the republican incompetents, bag and baggage, at the earliest opportunity.

Hughes to the Rescue

It is not surprising, therefore, that republican candidates seeking nomination are meeting with reverses that indicate a general revulsion of public sentiment in regard to the party and its performance at Washington. The defeats administered in Pennsylvania, Indiana, Iowa and in other states, leave no room for doubt that the republican party is politically doomed. The leaders are generally alarmed and believing that the Newberry issue has had something to do with bringing about these adverse results, they have prevailed upon Secretary Hughes to come out and furnish his reputation by giving Newberry a coat of whitewash.

It will be remembered that Justice Hughes was counsel for Newberry before the supreme court and that through his ability as a lawyer, he succeeded in keeping Newberry out of jail by raising a legal technicality that the federal government had no power to control primary elections, and it was at the primaries that Newberry lavished nearly $300,000 in order to secure the nomination for senator and to defeat Henry Ford, his opponent. It is to be regretted that Secretary Hughes has so far degraded his official standing as secretary of state and as an ex-justice of the supreme court of the United States, as to pull the political elephants of the republican leaders out of the fire. But in spite of his declaration the Newberry issue will not down. On the contrary, it will be made more prominent by the fact that Secretary Hughes shows that it was on a mere technicality that Newberry secured a reversal of the federal court's sentence to jail and a fine of $10,000. Moreover, when the republican leaders in congress voted to allow him to retain his seat they condemned the excessive use of money as used in the Michigan election, and stated that it was a menace to our free institutions. If it were so odious then it is equally so now and not even the prestige and high standing of Secretary Hughes can change public sentiment in reference to the republican crime that will go down in history as a national disgrace.

WHOLESALE PRICES

Average wholesale prices are now reported one tenth higher than a year ago, which does not compare with the view of the manufacturers that prices are gravitating back to the level of 1914 any more than 1912, 1910 or any other year. That is an absurd view. Why 1911 any more than 1912, 1910 or any other year. We note that most of these who discuss wages and make wage charts indicating the percentage of present wages over 1911, show an inclination to assert that wages today should be back at the 1911 level to be just and fair. But these statisticians do not take such pains to reckon the percentage of the present cost of living over that of 1911. It is the purchasing power of the dollar that tells the tale. It makes little difference to the wage earner whether he gets $20, $30 or $40 per week if each of the same amount purchased precisely the same quantity of the necessities of life. When the currency is inflated the purchasing power of the dollar is lowered and wages must be increased in proportion. If the purchasing power of the dollar decreases, then by the same rule wages should be reduced. Since the war we have been passing through a period of deflation under which wages and prices should have been reduced in equal degree. That they have not is proved by the conditions now in progress over wage reductions in textile factories, on railroads and in the mines.

PROBING CANCER CAUSES

The so-called "Cancer Campaign" participated in by many Lowell physicians and surgeons and citizens at large a few short months ago, was productive in more ways than one. The splendid support given to the medical in their active warfare on this malady of mystery, as it has long been termed, indicates that the campaign against cancer is renewed and gaining impetus daily. All good health workers are proud of the work performed by many Lowell citizens in doing the dread disease under control before the records are swelled any more than they are at the present time, with cancer steadily increasing.

The first real move by the United States health authorities to investigate the causes of cancer is to be started in Boston, where headquarters for the work are soon to be opened. A group of noted men are now engaged in investigations of the disease at the different private medical institutions in the Hub, and will be asked to co-operate with Dr. J. W. Scherebowski, assistant surgeon-general of the United States Public Health service. We understand that Dr. Scherebowski will have charge of the investigations and will enlist the services in this section not only of cancer specialists, but also of the laboratory facilities of different institutions in Massachusetts. The purpose, of course, is to place cancer in the category with malaria, typhus, pellagra and such other diseases as have been brought under control through the efforts of government scientists and other noted investigators.

THE LAWRENCE STRIKE

It seems that, despite the fact that the Lawrence strike has been running for twenty-two weeks, the strikers are not ready to accept the offer of the Pacific mills, the largest involved in the controversy. That offer was that the operatives return to work under the reduced wage and that by October 1, the old wage schedule would be restored and made retroactive till September 1.

The operatives have not gone back, the pickets have increased their numbers, and the question now discussed is whether the Pacific mills will invite the operatives back at the old scale of wages on September 5. If it should, then other mills in Lawrence and perhaps in other cities also would do likewise and the whole trouble would thus be ended. This fatuous struggle of endurance is ruining the mills and the cities affected, but it is hoped that the whole deplorable business will be put aside by September 5 at the latest, so that all the mills now affected by strikes may resume with their full force of employees.

THE HOUSING PROBLEM

A $5,000,000 building project, in which homes will be rent for $5 a room monthly, is started by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. Mr. Haley Blake, the company's president, turns the first spadeful of earth. In Long Island City.

It is an experiment in scientific economics, and but one of many popular and philanthropic enterprises conducted by this progressive company. In the beautiful mountains of West Virginia, the Raleigh-Wyoming Coal company tries a similar plan on a cheaper scale. Bungalows are provided for miners and have electric lights, bathrooms, running spring water, gas stoves, etc. The rent is only $2 a room a month. The difference between the $5 and the $2 in land values and the "deplorable sites" of congestion.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY

The various Standard Oil companies own only 34 per cent of the oil refining capacity of the United States and Mexico. They produce only a fifth of America's crude oil. So says R. L. Welch, secretary of American Petroleum Institute.

On this basis, the independent oil interests combined appear more powerful than the Standard, with cash investment twice as big. Standard Oil has been accused of many things, never of inefficiency. It attains its power from organization, while the smaller concerns plod along without combining their forces for their mutual benefit.

No wonder some metropolitan readers of the screen editions have the blues when they look for the latest installment of one of those sheik stories and find it condensed to about four teen lines. Incidentally, the number of stories based on the Arabian knight with the fascinating eyes, is fast approaching the well known zenith in number and similarity.

Canadian industries are reported to be as busy as the noted beaver, with unemployment one of the rarest things known across the border. That new disputes investigation act may prove to be a panacea for strike ills after all.

Camp Dovens will remain on the map as a permanent camping ground for the national guardsmen of New England, if officers of the line have anything to say about it.

Before long our Oriental friend across the western seas, Dr. Sun Yat Sen, will have nothing to do but sell his name to a biscuit maker.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Dominic J. Murphy, chairman of the board of public service, is on his vacation as are other members of the board. And reports coming to me of what is on tap for the next meeting of the board, which is to be held on September 7, the members need a rest to prepare for what is to come. The first meeting in September will be an all day affair. At noon the board will meet and go out on twelve or fourteen views. This will take up most of the afternoon. At night the board will settle down and have hearings on the views taken in the afternoon. After that the bills for the month of August will be brought up for approval and other business will be run out. It is bound to hold the board in session until nearly midnight. It will be remembered that the last session lasted until the early hours of the morning. What will the next one bring forth?

Sup. of Streets Harry P. Doherty tells me that the Anne Street parkway, now under construction, will be completed in about three weeks' time. He says that the reason the work is being held up is on account of the inability of the department to secure shingles and other materials with which to complete the work. The mills at the present time are turning out very little shingles and what are made are being rapidly used. The railroad strike is also interfering with the work as cement and other supplies have been held up on the way here. It is planned to have that part of the parkway down as far as the high school completed by the time school opens, while the remainder will be rushed to completion two weeks later. The work of putting in part of the sidewalks was begun today and will be hurried along.

My old friend, ex-Sheriff and Superior Court Officer George Stiles is a happy frame of mind these days. He was talking with him yesterday and he seemed so chipper and gay that I could not help but inquiring the reason. "Why, the horse racing season is here in full swing at the present time," was his answer. And then he cordially invited me to take a little trip up country with him for a couple of days to take in the races at Greenfield, N. H. But our vacation season has not yet arrived, and with many pleasant thoughts of his company and the delightful time I would surely have, I had to decline his invitation. When speaking of horsemen and lovers of horsemanship there are none in this city of ours who know more about such animals than Mr. Stiles. For years he has followed the sport of horse-racing and is keenly interested in the sale of thoroughbreds and high priced horses in general.

"I like the race, that isn't the kind of sport," he is after, but just for fun and to notice him when at a race and he sits contentedly back and watches the trotters and pacers while around the saucer and you will know what he means. His every expression will tell the statement that horse-racing is only a sport for kings.

One of the board of assessors strode from the office in city hall this morning and started for the business part of town. He was the guest of Mr. J. W. Scherebowski, assistant surgeon-general of the United States Public Health service. He was going to the office to see Mr. J. W. Twenty or more children at the Children's hospital in the city square, were made happy yesterday when they were taken to a camp at Knappa pond where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Hyman. The party was transported in one of the Mr. Father John's company's trucks, and were watched over by Miss Mary Blake, the company's president. At Greenfield, Mass., a number of the children went in bathing later in the afternoon.

At a recent meeting of the Chelsea school board the following were elected to fill the vacancies in the teaching forces of the town schools: Marion Watkins, of New Bedford, instructor in English at the high school; Frederick of the Central, Mary K. Jule of North Chelmsford; Elsie Bell of West Chelmsford and Mary Stinson of Lowell, in the grade schools. The election of Miss Watkins was received and accepted with regret with an expression of appreciation for the work accomplished. The vacancy created has not as yet been filled.

A Thought

Work, according to my feeling, is as much of a necessity to man as eating and sleeping. Even those who do nothing which to a sensible man can be called work, still imagine that they are doing something. The world possesses not a man who is an idler in his own eyes.—W. von Humboldt.

Serving the King

A recruiting sergeant, with an eye to business, approached a smart-looking lad who was on a milk route in the neighborhood of Buckingham Palace. "Well, my lad, and how would you like to serve the king?" The lad also had an eye to business and promptly replied: "Fine, sir.—How much does he take a day?"

Today's Word

Today's word is—stultify. It's pronounced—stul-ti-fy, with accent on the first syllable. It means—to make a fool of. It comes from—Latin—"stultus," foolish. It's used like this—"Mexico has succeeded, rather cleverly, in stultifying the United States by the rapid changing of the political leadership of two of her citizens during the milk labor troubles at Herrin, Ill."

Had Seen Him Before

A college professor who is head of the department of physics went away for a few days' visit. On the train on his way home he met a man he thought he knew. He said: "You look mighty familiar, haven't I met you somewhere before?" The young man smiled and said: "I think you have. I am a student at the college where you teach and I live in your house."—Indianapolis News.

Don't Be Discouraged

More than 1,000,000 American children between the ages of 10 and 15 work for a living. The census shows this. You realize that it is rather a black eye for civilization. But don't be discouraged. The wind is blowing in the right direction. The number of child laborers is decreasing. In mining, for instance, only 10 children between 10 and 15 are employed for each 100 children 10 years ago.

Had the Same Line

President Neilson of Smith college was in conversation with a drummer. The journey was dull and the traveling salesman was better than his company at all. Dr. Neilson soon discovered that his companion had mistaken him for a drummer and did nothing to correct the impression. Said the drummer, "What's your line? Mine's skirts." "So is mine," said the president of Smith.

Drifting From Baseball

Horace pitcher now has 1,000,000 players, says R. G. Loughton, head of this sport's national association. This and the increasing popularity of golf indicate a gradual drift away from baseball. And back of that is a national psychological wave, a general desire to get actual exercise out of sport instead of sitting comfortably in a grandstand and watching others exercise. It is an important and valuable change.

Excellent Portrait

A professor had been lecturing, and as he left the classroom he found that one of his students had dropped into his hat a card upon which was drawn the picture of a donkey. He said nothing at the time, but the next day, when he stood before the class, he prefaced his lecture with the remarks: "Gentlemen, I have to thank one of your number for placing his card in my hat. He was too modest to leave his name, but his portrait was excellent."

The Old Pilot Speaks

Scarcely and scarcer grow the ships, wild swans on the bay, Tackling slowly by the maelstroms of Heligoland and Cape May. The silver ships, the winged ships, like birds have flown away. Now the liners, cargo vessels, wanderer tramps come in to port. Digger money, but, oh, how it gives me back the grand old sport.

An "pretense lady we roamed the bay with every breeze that blew. Many's the storm and lay gate that we have weathered through. A ship ahead the pilot alone would spread their wings and flee. The engines gleaming mountain-high, spray blowing wild like ice.

I've rolled through many a misty night, lightless, till morning came. To cheat a rival of a ship—our lives staked on the game. In the blinding, howling, loudest we'd heard a schooner's gun. Our rolling decks pitching like a swiftly bucking tide.

On outbound ships the muffled would fight till decks were red. "The wider light, the better crew, one time the captain said.

Now the ships come in to find us on a night of newest beams. Guys are hoisted and the steam in a calm warned by steam.

Yet I long for the adventure when the silver ships broke free. Weathering like a bird of prey, they leaped into the sea.

HELD SPECIAL TOWN MEETING

The following appropriations were voted at a special town meeting held in the Centra Monday night: $6,500 for the extension of the water main on the town road to the new Chavheen school; $2,000 for enlarging the playing surface on the Kohl-rausch playground; $2,000 for furniture and equipment for the Shaw-sheen school; $300 for a water main extension on Twombly avenue and Sprague avenue; $400 for a water main extension on Elm street to the corner of Brown street; $425 for payment of land to the heirs of Dudley Foster and the Martha Prescott estate, which was taken for the building of the new bridge across the Concord river; $700 for the highway department to cover a deficit of $405.55 for snow work last winter and to provide a balance to be expended for this work the remainder of the year; $150 for vocational school tuition; $100 for soldiers' relief. The highway surveyor was authorized to expend $1000 which was voted at the last town meeting for irrigation on Colson street and use said sum to gravel and oil this street. The dog tax received from the county will go to the credit of the schools, this action being taken under article 17. There were about 200 present at the meeting, many of them being women who took much interest in the proceedings, and the session passed off without the debate that usually occurs in the consideration of large appropriations. A total of $13,475 was voted, of which sum $4075 was raised and will affect this year's tax rate. The remaining sum of $9500 is to be borrowed and is to be paid off within five years. Charles H. Eames was moderator.

HAMPTON BEACH BATHERS WARNED

Hampton beach bathers are warned not to attempt swims of any great length during the next two weeks, according to Captain J. B. Meyers of the Hampton beach coast guard station. The reason given for the suggestion is that high tides and underways are prevalent at this season of the year, so that long distance swimmers should refrain from stroking out too far.

DECAY causes losses of thousands of dollars annually. These losses are caused by weather acting upon unpainted surfaces. Weather is a destructive agent.

Repairs are expensive. They are usually neglected because they sometimes are not apparent, seldom are they looked for.

Good paint, properly applied before decay attacks your home, prevents depreciation in property values, makes expensive repairs unnecessary.

Painting your home adds to its value, makes it a more desirable piece of property, gives you much personal pride in its appearance.

Painting is a good investment, it pays dividends in increased property values, minimum repair bills, and increased life of buildings.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

A TONIC

When life seems devoid of all color,
And totally lacking in zest,
When things "simply couldn't be duller,"
I go on a bit of a quest,
And down where the slums are a quiver
With heat one can scarcely abide,
I fill up the seats of my fivver
With children—and go for a ride.

With six, eight, or ten of them, maybe,
Or all that the driver will bear,
From twelve-year-olds down to the baby,
I take them out into the air;
And as we drive on where the breezes
Can fan them for mile upon mile,
Each prospect they gaze upon pleases,
And nothing whatever is vile.

So, hearing their laughter and chatter,
And seeing their faces aglow
I wonder what could be the matter
To make me think living was slow!
Their bliss ends my wailing and pouting,
And lays my cares up on the shelf,
And while they're enjoying their outing
I'm having a picnic, myself!

HINTON AND CREW SAVED

Rescued From Wrecked Sea-plane by United States Cruiser Denver

Plane Fell While Flying From Nassau to Haiti on Way to Rio de Janeiro

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The United States cruiser Denver, which rescued Lieutenant Walter Hinton and his companions from the wrecked sea-plane Sampaio Corroia, is on its way to Key West, naval officials here said today. The sea-plane fell while flying from Nassau to Haiti on the way from New York to Rio de Janeiro. It was reported that a navy tug was on its way to the damaged flying boat and would attempt to tow her into Guantanamo or some other southern port in an effort to salvage the craft so the flight can be resumed. The Sampaio Corroia left New York on August 17, to make the flight by stages, planning to arrive in Rio Janeiro in time for the centennial exposition there. She left Nassau yesterday morning, and messengers despatched to her state that she was wrecked when Lieutenant Hinton misjudged his distance in dropping to the water.

THE SAMPAIO CORROIA

are now needed again for the defense of the empire.

Another longer poster, apparently placed by governmental officers, dealt in detail with the destruction caused by the irregulars through Ireland. It argued that the irregular movement was destroying every reasonable hope for Ireland's prosperity and happiness, and appealed to the citizens generally to stand solidly behind the provisional government.

The grief over the death of Arthur Griffith was accompanied by a public expression of admiration and affection for Collins, whose three hour march through the streets of Dublin behind the body of his colleague was one of the most impressive incidents in Irish history, because everybody believed that Collins himself had been marked for death.

This sinister fear seemed to pervade the very atmosphere of the capital. The general terrorism and uncertainty had laden the atmosphere of sadness with dire apprehensions for the future of the country. If Collins had any premonition of his fate, he did not show it, but walked calmly forward—a handsome, heroic figure, boyish and confident.

At the funeral everybody was talking about Collins, now that he was left alone as the great outstanding figure in the Free State movement.

"All the girls of Ireland are in love with Michael Collins," whispered an Irish woman as Collins, following Griffith's bier, walked slowly through O'Connell street by the famous Nelson pillar.

"But they are all too late, I fear, because I have heard he has a sweetheart down in the country, and one of these days when Ireland is more tranquil, Michael Collins will lead her to the altar."

It was announced last May that Miss Kitty Kierman, member of a leading family in Longford, was engaged to marry Collins.

All Ulster Stirred
BELFAST, Aug. 23.—(By the Associated Press)—All Ulster has been profoundly stirred by the news of Michael Collins' assassination. The Free State commander-in-chief was looked upon here as a more forceful personality than Arthur Griffith, and many declare he had far greater hold on the people, including those who fully appreciated the latter's cleverness.

The tragedy occurred on the anniversary of the murder in 1920 at Lisburn, of District Inspector Swamy, which was followed by one of the severest riots in the history of Belfast and the burning of 300 houses at Lisburn.

The Irish News says the assassination will cause profound consternation among the Irish people, to whom Collins had endeared himself by his sterling qualities of heart and mind, and who looked upon him as their chief mainstay in the field as well as in the council chamber, against the evil conspiracy to whom he has now fallen victim.

Collins' Brother Talks

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—Bandon, County Cork, where Michael Collins, Irish leader, was assassinated last night, just 12 miles from Clonakilty, where he was born, said his brother, Patrick Collins, Chicago police sergeant, when informed of Michael's death.

"Many is the time Mike and I have walked to Bandon as boys," the sergeant said. "Never would I believe anybody in that town would kill my brother."

"That his brother had been expecting to be killed was revealed, Sergeant Collins said, in a letter the Irish leader wrote him a fortnight ago.

"But his words were that if I did get the news that he had been killed, to know that he had died like a Collins and fighting for Ireland," added the Chicago man.

"If it were a real Irishman that killed Mike, I would say the Irish race stands discredited. But I know it was not. It was some blackguard not fit to wipe his boots."

Lloyd George's Tribute

LONDON, Aug. 23.—(By the Associated Press)—Prime Minister Lloyd George today sent the following message to William T. Cosgrave, acting chairman of the Irish provisional government:

"I deeply regret to hear of the death of the commander-in-chief of the Free State army. In his death, the Free State has lost a fearless soldier, a leader of great energy and devotion and a man of remarkable personal charm. Please convey to the members of your government my profound sympathy with them in their loss of one of Ireland's brilliant sons, at a moment when Ireland most needed his special qualities of courage and resolution."

Do Not Fear de Valera's Return

LONDON, Aug. 23.—Commenting upon the assassination of Michael Collins, the Evening Standard says it was only a few days ago that the commander-in-chief, alluding to the lamented death of Arthur Griffith, remarked that the ruthless fate which seemed to pursue Ireland at every crisis in her history. The Standard continued:

"The assassination of Collins himself is an even heavier blow on the part of this harsh and perverse destiny, for while the Irish commander-in-chief was capable in some measure of repelling the loss of Griffith's statesmanship, it is difficult to see who is to fill the place of Collins."

The Standard thinks the danger to Ireland is not the return of Eamon de Valera to power. "What threatens most," it says, "is not the strength of the Free State's enemies, but the weakness of its supporters."

The newspaper considers de Valera as broken beyond repair.

The Pall Mall Gazette and Globe says it is unfortunate that the latest blow of the republican movement had been broken in the field.

"A few weeks earlier de Valera's following would have gained new and infectious courage from the disappearance of their most formidable opponent."

The Evening News says, "The killing of Collins adds another chapter in the melancholy story that Irishmen are writing of themselves. It is a sad thing for the better Irish that their leaders should have been sacrificed in a vain encounter in this wretched game of de Valera's."

De Valera a Cavalryman

LONDON, Aug. 23.—Eamon de Valera has become a cavalryman and consequently is more elusive than ever.

says the correspondent of the Daily Mail with the national army in the field. The republican leader and all the members of his contingent are reported to be mounted on hunters, he adds.

De Valera is believed to be either in the neighborhood of Fermoy, County Cork, where it is known he has friends, or in the Kerry hills, where a large number of his followers are concentrated.

Several attacks have been made against the life of Michael Collins, head of the provisional government and commander-in-chief of the Irish national army. The latest attempt was a bombing outrage when his car was ambushed last Friday afternoon on the Dublin side of Stillorgan. The bomb, which exploded in connection with this attack, did not injure Collins, who was in the machine at the time. The driver was wounded and the car was wrecked, a bomb and more than a score of shots being fired.

In Dublin on April 17, while Mr. Collins was on his way home after having addressed a meeting at Nassau, County Kildare, he was attacked by a group of men, some with rifles, who rushed his car, and opened fire.

The Collins party returned the fire and one of the assailants was captured. Collins was not injured.

Mr. Collins in addition to being commander-in-chief of the national army was finance minister in the Dail Eireann cabinet. He was one of those who succeeded in obtaining a temporary truce in the New York armistice, day, restraining Eamon de Valera, or his agents from withdrawing funds collected for the Irish republican cause deposited in banks in New York city.

Collins, always an ardent Sinn Féin man, was among those leaders who, while holding the fundamentals of tradition for the freedom of Ireland, were willing to effect a peace with Great Britain. It became necessary in view of the recent operations of the irregular forces for Collins to assume active charge of the national army in the field. For some time past he had abandoned the civil part of the government for the military.

Americans recently arriving in London from Dublin declared that the assassination of Collins was forecast by Ireland. It was planned, they said, by the so-called republican government, and it was said to be also in part a measure of reprisal against the shooting of Harry J. Boland, the close associate of Eamon de Valera, by Free State soldiers.

Collins had been going on for a considerable time, and the walls of Trinity college and other public buildings bore the inscription "Harry Boland murdered." Posters on telegraph poles insisted that Boland was shot by Free State men when he was unarmed.

As a measure of protection, extra guards were thrown around the national chief because the determination of the radical elements to rid the country of the strong man in the Free State movement was an accepted fact.

Of a retiring disposition, and known as a man who "liked the crowds," Collins, nevertheless, was a most ardent worker, both in the government and in the field. He also was an orator of great ability, whose speeches generally moved his hearers.

With Arthur Griffith, Collins was considered one of the mainstays of the Irish republicanism since its inception. In the Dail Eireann after the conclusion of the peace treaty with Great Britain, his ringing addresses upholding the stand of the men who had gone to London and arranged the treaty embittered the republicans against him. More than once he announced he was proud that his signature had been affixed to the treaty, which he believed would bring happiness and prosperity back to the Irish people. Indeed, he once asserted the belief that an Irish settlement might be the basis for a real league of nations.

In Ireland favorable to peace had fought with the Sinn Féiners against the Black and Tans and the Royal Irish constabulary and was one of many Irishmen who for a long time were "on the run" from the British.

When finally after bitter debate, in which he was heckled by Eamon de Valera and other leaders of republicanism and the Dail Eireann ratified the treaty, Collins was cheered as he emerged from the session.

Those who listened to the debate thought that Collins had none the worst of it.

During the conferences in London on the treaty and various other subjects connected with Ireland, David Lloyd George, the prime minister, Winston Spencer Churchill, secretary for the colonies, and Lord Birkenhead, the lord high chancellor, were said to have held Collins in the highest esteem.

With the passing of Arthur Griffith, who died Aug. 12, and Collins, the Irish republicans have lost two men they will find hard to replace. When Mr. Griffith was buried Collins, dressed in full uniform as commander-in-chief of the army, was the chief mourner for the government. Although threats had been made against his life and his friends had fought against his assassination, Collins marched in the funeral procession to Glasnevin cemetery.

Little is known of the early life of Collins, except that he is said to have been born of humble parents in County Kerry. He was educated in the national school and after working with a brother in the grocery business entered the postal service. At one time he was employed in the London post-office.

Collins sprang into prominence in October, 1914, in connection with the Sinn Féin movement. In 1916 he commanded a section of the rebel army in Ireland of which Patrick H. Pearse, who later was executed, was commander-in-chief. It was charged in a government paper that "a person named Michael Collins accompanied Sir Roger Casement, who was executed for treason for connection with the Sinn Féin plot with Germany, on a mission to Germany to visit Irish prisoners of war."

Although a member of the imperial parliament, Collins never saw the interior of the British House of Commons. During the long hours between the Sinn Féiners and the British forces Collins was said to have made his headquarters in Dublin, although he was prepared to move hither and thither on the shortest notice.

The Royal Irish constabulary, the "black and tans" and the British frequently raided premises where Collins was supposed to be, but he always managed to elude them. His boldness was a byword for all Irishmen.

Collins is said to have gained his knowledge of finance which brought him the portfolio of minister of finance, and his education through his training in the London office of the Guinness Trust Co.

HARD COAL PARLEYS END

—NO AGREEMENT

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23.—With the hard coal parleys broken up as a result of the inability of miners and operators to agree on the arbitration problem, those anxious for peace in the anthracite fields today commented upon the fact that the door was left open for future negotiations in the statement issued jointly by the negotiators. This statement, laconic as those issued upon the conclusion of the four previous sessions, announced that the conference was unable to agree and that it had adjourned to meet at the call of the secretary upon the request of either side.

The operators today were pointing to the appeal which they preferred the terms of their first proposals, in which they said that a serious shortage of anthracite has been created already and that further idleness would simply aggravate the situation, and, in the end, force the household to use other fuel temporarily to the ultimate detriment of the industry and those it employs.

alleged bootlegger with whom the local authorities yet have had to deal. The profligate gave his name as William H. Behm, and his age as 16. His business card supplied the further information that his "residence" was in Brooklyn. The authorities alleged that Behm dealt mostly in wholesale quantities, and had offered to get one "customer" anything "up to 100 cases."

According to the agents, Behm, who is a pale, thoughtful appearing lad, has amassed a small fortune. When he was arraigned for violating the Volstead Act, the $10,000 bail in which he was held was supplied at once.

NATION LOOKS TO U. S.

Dr. Fujisawa Speaks With "Rooseveltian Frankness" at Williamstown

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 23.—Dr. Rikitaro Fujisawa, professor at the Imperial University at Tokyo, speaking today at the Institute of Politics with what he termed "Rooseveltian frankness," declared "while other nations have equally shown that spirit of idealism, it is upon the United States, which emerged as the strongest and richest of the great powers out of the world war, that history will focus hope in the future."

"Next to the United States," he said, "stands Japan to which Asia, if not the world, looks up for leadership in the great task of the fusion of Oriental and Occidental cultures as a basis of permanent peace. It is while the whole world is still in a molten state that supreme efforts on the part of comparatively the most favored nations like the United States and Japan, should not be spared for making the world take the form in the mould of idealism and co-operation."

"Sylpho-Nathol" made Herbert's feet feel fine

"Herbert's work keeps him on his feet for hours at a time. He walks miles and miles every day. In hot weather, his feet used to hurt him dreadfully—they would swell and get so tender he couldn't sleep at night. But Sylpho-Nathol gave him quick relief."

"Lettie Hayward told me about Sylpho-Nathol and its many uses. I bought a bottle at the druggist's. The directions recommended it for tired and aching feet."

"Herbert came home that evening with his feet driving him nearly crazy. He tried Sylpho-Nathol as soon as I told him about it. A tablespoonful in a gallon of warm water made a clean-smelling, pearly-gray solution. My dear! I wish you could have heard Herbert. 'Sylpho-Nathol is certainly a life-saver, Bess,' he said, as it soothed the soreness away. 'It's great stuff to have in the house—don't let's ever be without it.'"

But Sylpho-Nathol has many other important uses. In cleaning-water, it destroys germs which lurk in dust and dirt and threaten family health. As a sprinkle, it quickly dispels the unpleasant odors which come in sink pipes and drains and other hard-to-get-at places. It is indispensable in the bathroom, around the toilet fixtures and as a flush for the closet bowl. It is a dependable antiseptic, which deserves a place in every home medicine chest.

Sylpho-Nathol is 4 1/2 times stronger than carbolic acid, yet it is as safe to have about the house as a cake of soap. Your druggist or grocer has Sylpho-Nathol in four handy sizes, 15c, 35c, 65c and $1.25. If he hasn't it he can get it easily. Ask for it by name—"Sylpho-Nathol."

Father Threatened Murder

Clara, were before the court again today, on a new charge of drunkenness. They received suspended sentences to the house of correction yesterday for a similar offense. The husband was ordered to the house of correction for two months on today's complaint. He pleaded guilty. The wife was given the same sentence, but it was suspended for six months.

Joseph Weaver, for drunkenness, was sentenced to the house of correction for three months. This sentence was suspended by the court for one year. Dennis Murphy was given a suspended sentence to the state farm in Bridgewater for the same offense.

John Sinowski pleaded not guilty to the charge of assault and battery on one Joseph Jamatin. He was held in $200 bonds and the case continued to August 24.

The alleged proprietor of a near-by saloon at 141 Middlesex street, was arraigned before Judge Bright this morning, on the charge of intoxicating liquors. He pleaded not guilty and the case was held over for trial until September 10.

On the matter of street maintenance, Supt. Doherty had a great deal to say. He averred that he had charged the street with a large amount of money and still he is in a position to give the city service. He said that there was a certain fixed overhead every day of the week that had to be attended to and that unless the work was kept up to the minute the city would be the loser.

He pointed out that last year, about $247,000 was used by the street department. This year's appropriation was $314,000, to which was added a special appropriation of $10,000, bringing the mark up to $324,000 in round numbers. However, the superintendent claims that this year, the city ledger's payroll is charged to his department, while last year, he said it was charged off in another manner. This means that $23,000 that it has to overcome, according to Doherty.

He then stated that the city purchased a number of autos and these were all taken from the maintenance money which left him almost $50,000 of a handicap to overcome. He added that the ledger work was not yet completed and would have to be taken care of by his department.

Doherty alleges that when he was given charge of the department, only about $5,000 of the total money appropriated for the department remained for him to spend, with all most of the months of the year to go. He said that there would be certain transfers of money coming back to the department, but even the amount due would carry him through to the end of the year. He intimated that a supplementary budget would have to be made in order to obtain the money.

Kiddies Will Miss Outing

The big double truck street car left in the morning until the third, but happy, extremely happy, little bodies dragged themselves home at night the kiddies were fated and fanned from all sides. When John McManus was called away from this earth the kiddies lost a great friend.

With the passing of John McManus the kiddies ceased to be for several years, about a half dozen. If memory serves correctly, then came Battery B with a revival of the kiddies. The old name of the McManus picnic was kept in memory of the man that had

warmed the hearts of many a neglected child

For a couple of years the Battery kept the picnic going. But this year, although there was a great deal of talk earlier in the year, nothing has come of it. At the time a hearing was held before the license commission, about the later part of June, relative to the coming of a carnival to a lot in Lakeview ave., certain members of the American Legion mentioned the McManus picnic at the hearing. It was intimated that this organization would attempt to put over the affair this summer.

When interviewed upon the subject this morning Stephen C. Garrity, commander of the local post, said that it would be impossible for the legion to stage the outing. The only obstacle to it, he stated, is the lack of funds. Added to this he claimed that it would not be advisable to ask for money at this time through the medium of a tag day. He pointed to the fact that the school will open soon and that the children have had several picnics this summer.

In his opinion the children of the city have been pretty well taken care of. About all that is possible means that the legion would have to obtain the money in through a tag day and he said he believed that the legion had been taxed heavily enough in this manner without asking it to donate again, even though the cause was a worthy one.

With conditions brighter next year, it is probable that this organization will get an early start on the picnic season and will revive the famous old outing.

Of course there is that remote possibility that some individual or organization may come to the front and stage the affair with a rush. This seems a little far-fetched in view of the fact that an outing of this sort requires a lot of work.

Tremendous Explosion

Their reward for the arrest of plotters accused of causing the Gary, Ind., wreck Sunday, to $5000. The original reward was $1000.

Switchmen in the Nashville, Chattanooga & Louisville yards at Paducah, Ky., refused to go up because of an alleged attack on one of their number by a railroad guard.

Train service was restored on the Southern Railway, following the removal of most of the troops which had been on guard in the Spencer and Salisbury, N. C., and Pelham, Ind., yards.

The guard was reduced in a compromise with the trainmen who walked out when soldiers were sent to quell disturbances.

Striking shopmen of the Southern Railway at Salisbury were on guard around the home of the Rev. Thomas S. Jimison, who received threatening letters, following an alleged assault upon him by a postal employee. The minister had been a champion of the shopmen's strike and strikers went to his defense, maintaining guards in eight hour shifts at the preacher's home.

Western Roads for Peace NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—(By the Associated Press).—Efforts of the big five brotherhoods acting as mediators in the shop craft strike, to succeed where others failed, will be put to the test today when heads of 148 roads, meeting at the Yale club, will vote whether to accept the brotherhoods' peace proposals or decline their good offices in favor of a "fight to the finish."

Heads of the western lines entered the conference full of optimism—as they have entered each of the two previous conferences when President Harding, through his peace proposals, adopted the role of mediator.

Frankly and unreservedly these western chiefs want the strike settled, and express a willingness to make any practical concession which will relieve their roads of a growing shortage of usable rolling stock, with a bumper crop nearly upon them, and coal raining already being resumed on a large scale.

Opposing this attitude and with forces more completely intrenched, were the heads of the powerful eastern roads, led by L. P. Lorco, of the Delaware & Hudson; W. W. Atterbury, of the Pennsylvania; A. H. Smith, of the New York Central; Frederick Goodwood, of the Erie, and E. J. Pearson, of the New Haven. Their roads are in excellent condition. Their shops are well manned; they are near to the large labor markets, and they maintain they are ready to back their pledges to "stand by the loyal men who refused to strike and the new men whom we hired on promise to put them ahead of strikers on the regularly rolls."

The only eastern president about whom this group expressed any uneasiness was Daniel Willard, who, it was said, might join the "peace at any price" delegation from the west, and which Hale Holden, president of the C. & O., and E. M. Foltz, of the Chicago, Great Western, were pointed out as leaders.

"Forgive Them," Said Collins

past few days, began to clear away.

There were explosions at some rail centers. A tremendous explosion early today in the Chicago & Alton roundhouse at Yonkers, Ill., shook buildings within a radius of three miles and the windows were rushed to the shops when further violence was threatened. Several sticks of dynamite were thrown on the roof of the roundhouse, in which a number of men were working.

Bombs were hurled at the homes of Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe employees at San Bernardino, Cal., where daily outbreaks have marked the shopmen's strike. Windows were broken by the explosions, but no injuries were reported.

$5000 Reward for Plotters

Michigan Central officials increased should have met a tragic end at Irish hands is the darkest feature of this national calamity. He dared much and suffered much for the ideal to which he devoted his life and in the achievement of which he played such a decisive part. He has fallen now with in sight of the goal towards which he strove with such tenacity of purpose, but his death will serve only to strengthen the resolve of the Irish people that his work shall be carried to complete success.

The Freeman's Journal says: "Michael Collins has fallen by the hands of his own countrymen. He dared much and suffered much for the ideal to which he devoted his life and in the achievement of which he played such a decisive part. He has fallen now with in sight of the goal towards which he strove with such tenacity of purpose, but his death will serve only to strengthen the resolve of the Irish people that his work shall be carried to complete success."

Mr. Collins was engaged to be married to Miss Kitty Kiernan, pretty daughter of a prominent business man of Granard, County Longford.

This wedding was to have taken place as soon as Collins had completed the military operations against the insurgents.

Although it had long been understood in Dublin that Collins was contemplating marriage, no definite announcement had been made of the engagement until January 3, of this year, when he announced the fact in dramatic fashion at a meeting of the Gaelic League in the National League hall. Collins was a native of the west, an ardent republican advocate, during a bitter attack at that session on the Anglo-Irish treaty, referred to Prince's Mary's engagement to Viscount Lascelles, saying that perhaps she would break it to marry Collins.

Collins was not present at this particular session was a widely informed of what the countess had said. Coming in later, he indignantly repudiated the remarks of Countess Lascelles, saying her statement might cause pain to the lady in question, and it might cause pain to the lady who is betrothed to me."

Pacific Mills' New Offer

committee said that the company could not guarantee the old scale in the cotton department beyond Dec. 1. Employees are to work at the reduction announced March 27, until Oct. 2.

"In order to clear up the misunderstanding arising from previous reports," the statement said, "the Pacific Mills states that its employees are to return at the present scale and that an adjustment will be made, effective Oct. 2, and at that date retroactive to Sept. 1, as follows:

"Worsted department: The scale in effect previous to the reduction of March 27, 1922.

"Cotton department: The scale in effect previous to March 27, 1922. Because of different conditions existing in this department from the other departments, this scale cannot be guaranteed beyond Dec. 1. If it is found necessary to change this rate of wages, sufficient notice will be given employees for the purpose of arriving at a settlement satisfactory to all concerned."

The announcement said that the old scale would also be restored in the worsted department.

The company announced last week that it would restore on the same date the former scale in its worsted department and to some of its cotton employees. Representatives of the textile unions which have been directing the strike here since last March rejected the offer.

Today's announcement was signed by Irving Southworth, assistant agent of the mills.

JEWELERS' ASSOCIATION NO NEW DEVELOPMENTS IN TEXTILE STRIKE

Merrimack Valley Retail Jewelers Hold Annual Outing at Country Club

The Vesper Country club was thrown open to the members of the Merrimack Valley Retail Jewelers' association today when more than a hundred of its members gathered for the annual outing. The Lowell contingent left this city about 10:30 this morning, joining hands with their brothers from other cities in the valley at a delightful dinner at 1 P. M.

Under the supervision of Edward Cotter, a series of golf matches, singles and foursomes, were run off to the immense interest and amusement of the gathering. Other sporting events, including races and athletic games, were staged in the afternoon and quickly brought the jovial members to the realization that home time was fast approaching.

The festive exercises were opened by President Joseph Harris of Lawrence, who introduced as the principal speaker of the day, Mr. John J. Morgan of Boston. Other speakers were Henry Arnold of Boston, C. S. O. Birney of Attleboro, E. F. Lilley of Milford, W. J. Marshall and A. S. Flint of the National Watch company and a number of other prominent jewelers. A program of recitation was interspersed with the speaking, leading an undeniable balance to the festivities.

The general committee responsible for the day's success was as follows: Frank Ricard, A. H. Abbott, Edward Cotter, Willis Peizer, Arthur Deaneau of Lowell, and A. L. Burke of Nashua.

WORCESTER'S MAYOR VISITS LOWELL

Local democrats about Merrimack since early last evening were afforded an opportunity of meeting Mayor Peter Sullivan of Worcester, a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor, and many availed themselves of the chance to meet this democratic mayor of a republican city.

Mr. Sullivan was among the first to greet the visiting mayor, and his machine was soon surrounded by young men who have heard of him and were anxious to see him.

Mayor Sullivan made no speech, but arrangements were made at once by some of his workers to start Sullivan clubs in Lowell. He told the gathering that he believed his chances excellent and promised to speak before the people of this city before the primaries, telling them why he should receive their votes.

A number of local members of the legislature, past and present, knew Mayor Sullivan when he represented his district in the state senate, previous to his election to his present office.

DEATHS

GIFFORD—Curth T. Gifford, of 203 Appleton street, died in Springfield, August 18. He had been a resident of Lowell for 30 years, coming here when a young man. He was 62 years of age. He was survived by two sisters, Mrs. William Sullivan and Mrs. Victor Hardwell, both of White River Junction, Vt., and a son, Mr. Gifford, who was in Northampton, where Mr. Gifford was born and spent his childhood.

MAYOR RECEIVES REPLY

Miller's Send Information Relative to Prices of Flour Bought in May

When the Budget and Auditing commission met this afternoon it was presented with a letter from the Washburn-Crosby millers relative to the wholesale prices of flour during the month of May. This letter came to Mayor George H. Brown today and, according to his statement, was requested by the commission.

About the middle of last May, according to the mayor, he pushed through an emergency order for a carload of flour, bought through a local dealer, to be used at the Chalmers street hospital. The price paid for the flour at that time to the dealer was $7.75 per barrel. The mayor said that his act was prompted after a conference with the purchasing agent and a perusal of the flour market which showed it to be on the rise.

When it was learned that the market was on the rise, the purchasing agent advised, according to the mayor, to put through an emergency order which would in the end save the city some money.

The mayor contends that after he had put through the order and the flour was purchased, the commission criticized him for his action, claiming that the flour might have been bought in five and 10 barrel lots and at a much lower rate than was paid for it. At that time the mayor said that he took issue with the commission over the point, out of which came a request from the commission that he write to the Washburn-Crosby company and obtain quotations on the price of flour at that time.

This morning the mayor came back with the statement that on May 13 flour, mentioning a certain brand, was wholesaling for $7.55 per barrel. The mayor added that the cost of delivering the flour in lots that he was selling to the hospital was about 35 cents per barrel. The letter also stated that the company had disposed of nearly all its flour at a higher price on a rising market than the one quoted.

Mr. Hypollite Duchaine of Hanover street, who returned from Maine, where they spent a week at Lake Umbagog.

Miss Julian Parmenter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Parmenter of Merrimack street, has returned from Nicolet, Que., where she graduated last June at the convent of the Sisters of the Assumption.

Chief P. F. Saunders of the fire department, who is attending the annual fire chiefs' convention in San Francisco, has written to local friends, telling them that in attendance at the convention are fire chiefs from all parts of the world: Canada, Japan, China, Panama and Paris.

Atty. and Mrs. Patrick J. Reynolds of 341 Stevens street will spend the next two weeks in Nova Scotia, during which time they expect to visit Wolfville, Halifax, Digby, St. John, N. B., and other points of interest. They will return to this city about Sept. 6.

MATRIMONIAL

A pretty wedding took place August 21 when Mr. William Lancelot and Miss Alice Olson were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed at Notre Dame de Lourdes church by Rev. Joseph Denis, O. M. I. The bride was attired in brown tulle gown with shadow lace and picture hat to match and carried a showy bouquet of bridal roses. She was escorted by her father, Mr. William Lancelot, and a bridesmaid, Miss Grace Lanthier, who wore blue tulle gown with picture hat to match and carried pink roses. The best man was Mr. Ernest Gunther. At the close of the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herm Olson, 15 Greenfield avenue.

Circuit ave.

Several applicants were given leave to withdraw their applications. Some of these did not need a new license as they already had a Sunday license, while others had been convicted in the district court on the charge of illegal keeping.

Tour of Inspection

Members of the license commission, accompanied by Clerk Harry Flaherty, made a tour of inspection last Friday of the various establishments through out the city that had made applications for a license to sell soft drinks under the new Massachusetts "soft drink" statute.

In accordance with the observations made on this tour, the commission drew up the following rules at the meeting last night, subject to the condition of establishment selling such drinks:

1. The licensed premises, when opened for business, shall be properly lighted.
2. There shall be no obstructions placed in windows of the premises licensed that will in any way interfere with the view of the business conducted on the interior.
3. There shall be no interior communications with any room or rooms, which have doors suited with locks, bolts or similar devices.

Supt. Atkinson of the police department sat in with the members of the commission at the meeting and was in full accord with the regulations.

WILL NOT BE FORCED TO PAY $1,361,706

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—An alternative verdict of a federal court jury here last March, whereby the sugar exporting firm of Jacinto Moss, of Buenos Aires, will not be obliged to pay an award of $1,361,706, to the receiver of the E. H. Sherman company, of this city, was entered in federal court today.

A jury last March after hearing evidence in the breach of contract suit brought against the South American concern, returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, but stipulated that should certain points of law concerning the legality of the contract be decided for the defendant, a decision should be found for the latter. Federal Judge Morton decided these points today in favor of Moss and the alternative verdict became automatically effective.

RICKER WANTED FOR MANY THEFTS

WESTERLY, R. I. Aug. 23.—Robert D. Ricker, of Boston, who was arrested Monday as one of the three men who snatched $3000 from the trolley engine of the Industrial Trust company here, was today identified as Maurice Hammond, alias George (Reddy) Hammond, who is wanted in Portland, Me., and in Troy, N. Y., for jewelry and bank thefts. His two alleged accomplices escaped with $280.

Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown received information that Ricker was wanted in Portland, on an indictment charging larceny. The prisoner will be arraigned here tonight. Police today were checking up reports that Ricker had taken part in numerous bank and jewelry robberies throughout the country.

PACIFIC MILLS INCLUDES ALL EMPLOYEES IN NEW OFFER

Agrees to Restore Wages in Effect Previous to Strike in All Departments—Increase Effective October 2, Retroactive to Sept. 1—Official Statement—Strategy Board Accepts

LAWRENCE, Aug. 23.—Prospects of a settlement of the textile strike here, as it affects the Pacific Mills, appeared brighter today when the strategy board of the United Textile Workers of America voted to recommend acceptance of the company's offer to restore the old rate of wages to all employees, effective October 2, and retroactive to September 1.

The offer made public this morning, will be discussed at a special meeting of the Wool Sorters' Union this evening. Delegates of the textile unions which have been directing the strike were asked by the One Big Union to attend another meeting tonight to take action upon the proposal. The United Textile Workers announced that it would not be represented at this council.

Contempt of Court
SALFORD, Mass., Aug. 23.—A petition asking that contempt of court proceedings be taken against Ben Legore, Bert Binsley and Fred St. Rock, leaders of the One Big Union in Lawrence, was filed in superior court here today by counsel for the Pacific Mills Co. The petition alleges that the respondents violated the injunction granted by the court on July 27 forbidding members of the union from intimidating, threatening or annoying employees of the mill. Two affidavits are offered in support of the petition, which is returnable in Boston next Friday.

New Offer Announced
LAWRENCE, Aug. 23.—The Pacific Mills today offered the wage rate in effect previous to the textile strike to all employees, effective October 2, retroactive to Sept. 1.
The announcement, which was given to the newspapers and to Rev. Father O'Reilly, chairman of the citizens strike committee, was made at a public meeting.

BOY SAYS HIS FATHER THREATENED MURDER AND SUICIDE

New Warrant Ordered for Man Charged With Assault and Battery—Liquor Case Continued—Other Cases in the District Court

A new complaint for threatening was ordered by Judge Enright today against Harry Haugassian, who was already charged with assault and battery on his wife. The man, who is out on bail, had left the courtroom when his son informed the judge that his father had been abusing his mother since the time of the first assault and had threatened to kill her and himself. The boy said that the father had been hanging around the house with something in his pocket. It was at this point that the court ordered the new warrant and told the officers to bring the man to the station. The first charge of assault and battery was continued to Aug. 26.

alleged to have assaulted Mrs. Lydia Evans and Miss Ethel Lindsey at Nutting's lake, Billerica, on the afternoon of Aug. 4, when two fellow employees at a milk establishment in Roxbury testified that he was at work on that day. Michael Collins, who had told a Billerica officer at the time of the assault that the guilty party was McDonald, said on the stand today that McDonald was not there at the time, but the man who committed the assault was John Delaney, who is thought to live in Cambridge. Delaney was not in the court room this morning.

Judge Enright ordered Chief Livingston of the Billerica police, to look up this man and bring him to court. The case was continued till Delaney is apprehended.

MILK PRODUCERS AND DEALERS' OUTING

Close to 100 milk producers and dealers of this city attended the outing of the milk handlers of the Merrimack valley, which was held at the Martin Luther grounds in Trowbridge this afternoon. The Lowell men left the city at 1 o'clock after meeting the producers and dealers of Lawrence, Haverhill and Newburyport, who came over the road, passing through this city on their way to the neighboring town.

Upon reaching the grounds greetings were exchanged between the excursionists from this end of the valley and those from Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H., and a general good time followed.

There were over 600 men from all over the valley in attendance. At noon a buffet luncheon was served and later in the afternoon a clam bake was in order. Sports of all kinds were carried out and suitable prizes were awarded the winners of the various events. The committees in charge of arrangements consisted as follows: Guy H. Richardson, Napoleon J. Lavole and James E. Moody, Lowell; Fred M. Barr and R. E. Carleton, Lawrence; George M. Watson and J. E. Hubney, Haverhill; F. R. Hazen and E. C. Blake, Concord; N. H. H. Hilkey and H. E. ## National Funeral With Full Military Honors to Be Accorded Free State Chief, Assassinated Near Cork

MICHAEL COLLINS ASSASSINATED

(EDITORIAL)

Words can but feebly express the feeling of horror and dismay that comes to every true friend of Ireland at the news of the assassination of Michael Collins, the foremost of Ireland's patriot leaders, her greatest soldier and statesman, shot from ambush by the band of Irregulars whose policy seems to be one of general destruction of life and property as a means of overthrowing the Free State and in a measure perhaps as a reprisal for the death of Harry Boland.

This foul deed is one that will stir the Irish people to a greater determination than ever to defend and assert the practical statesmanship and the national policies for which Michael Collins gave his young life. The death of Collins is the climax of Irish tragedy, and one of the blackest and most deplorable in all Ireland's checkered history. It would seem that in this tragic deed, a blow has been struck at the heart and the life of the Irish Nation although the perpetrators will doubtless try to justify it even as Booth, the assassin of President Lincoln, seemed to glory in his deed as he exclaimed "sic semper tyrannis."

Had Collins fallen in his battles with the alien oppressors of his native land, his death would be regarded as one of the natural consequences of legitimate warfare; but to be shot down by his own deluded countrymen and perhaps by some of the men with whom he had fought shoulder to shoulder against the British, his assassination is a national calamity and a disgrace, the ignominy of which is simply inexpressible.

What will be the result? It may be a period of anarchy which will recall the British to mow down the innocent and guilty alike. If the Irregulars succeeded in destroying the Free State, what have they to offer? Nothing but an ideal which can be realized only after destroying the British empire. Michael Collins and Arthur Griffith saw this, and practical men that they were, they decided to take what they could get even though it fell somewhat short of the national aspiration. They saw that the establishment of the Free State would not destroy the national ideal, would not change the final aspiration for complete independence, but rather prepare the people and the nation for its ultimate consummation.

Michael Collins is dead and in his passing Ireland has lost one of her most able, courageous and romantic sons, a patriot of wonderful nobility and resource for a man of his years. In his character he combined the wise statesmanship of O'Connell with the fire, the chivalry and lovable qualities of Robert Emmet. When on last Friday, an attempt was made upon the life of Collins, there was no word of protest from Mr. De Valera, whose attitude in reference to this national tragedy is now a matter of world-wide interest. In this calamity Mother Erin can only mingle her moans with the sound of the waves that lash her shores and pray as she has done through the centuries, for deliverance from suicidal strife with the dawning of freedom's day and the restoration of peace and order everywhere within her shores. But the cause is not lost. The bone and sinew of Ireland were behind Griffith and Collins and over their hallowed graves, will the people, stirred to highest indignation, pledge anew their devotion and fidelity to the principles for which those brave men sacrificed their lives.

BODY TO LIE IN STATE IN DUBLIN

Dail Eireann to Be Summoned Immediately to Act on Assassination of Collins

Death Terrible Blow to Ireland Coming so Soon After Griffith's Death

Dash and Personal Disregard for Danger Endeared Him to Ireland

Will Be Buried in the Glasnevin Cemetery at Side of Arthur Griffith

DUBLIN, Aug. 23.—(By the Associated Press)—A national funeral with full military honors will be accorded to Michael Collins, who was assassinated yesterday, it was stated this afternoon. His body will lie in state prior to interment in the Glasnevin cemetery, where Arthur Griffith was buried a few days ago.

The provisional government published a statement today that the body would be conveyed to the city by rail.

Last Words Uttered by Chief Few Minutes After Bullet Pierced His Skull

City of Dublin Stunned by Murder of Commander-in-Chief of Free State Army

CORK, Aug. 23. (By the Associated Press).—"Forgive them." These were the last words of Michael Collins, uttered a few minutes after a bullet fired by an Irregular, had pierced his skull. They were addressed to Major General Dalton.

The assassination occurred last night between Macroom and Bandon, about 20 miles from this city.

Collins was accompanied by members of the Free State headquarters staff, who were visiting various military positions in the south of Ireland.

Large numbers of republican irregulars ambushed the commander-in-chief's party en route to Bandon. An armored car, which was accompanying the national army officials, inflicted heavy casualties upon the Irregulars. Just as the attack was beaten, the bullet struck Mr. Collins and he expired a few minutes later.

DOHERTY SAYS MORE MONEY NEEDED FOR STREET DEPARTMENT

Superintendent of Streets Claims He Has Shaved Payroll to Lowest Possible Point—Tells Where Money Has Gone—Mayor Brown Takes Issue With Statement

More money must be obtained by the street department this year. At least that is the contention of Harry P. Doherty, superintendent of the department. When asked what would happen if the money were not forthcoming, he said that he would rather wait until that time arrived before giving his opinion. When interrogated as to how the money was to be obtained he simply shrugged his shoulders and said that his board would probably ask for it at its meeting in September.

Several weeks ago Doherty was ordered to keep down the street maintenance payroll to about $4,000 for, according to the public service board and the clerk, if this wasn't done, there would not be enough money left to carry the department through the year.

Certain Transfers
However, as far as can be learned, the street maintenance payroll has not arrived at the $4,000 mark as yet, but Superintendent Doherty said today that he had made certain transfers of men to (Continued to Page 9)

RAILROAD HEADS REFUSE TO ACCEPT BROTHERHOOD PROPOSAL

Will Not Reinstate Strikers With Full Seniority Rights But Leave Door to Peace Open by Submitting Counter Proposals

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—(By the Associated Press)—American railroad presidents want into session this afternoon at the Yale club to vote on a resolution to be submitted by a sub-committee embodying the reply to a demand made to last week's proposals by mediating brotherhood chiefs for settlement of the nation-wide shopmen's strike.

It was understood that the carriers, at their morning session, had voted unanimously to stand pat on their refusal to reinstate strikers with full seniority rights, but that the reply would contain counter-proposals leaving the door to peace still open. This reply, it was expected, would be conveyed to the mediators late today.

Morning Session
NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—(By the Associated Press)—Railway executives convened today at the Yale club to consider proposals for settlement of the shopmen's strike submitted last week by the running trades acting as mediators, adjourned at 12:50 o'clock.

PLANES COLLIDE IN MID-AIR
Two Military Machines Crash at Height of 1000 Feet Near Pisa, Italy

PISA, Italy, Aug. 23.—(By the Associated Press)—Two military airplanes collided in mid-air near here today at a height of 1000 feet. The two pilots and two observers were crushed to death under wreckage.

The wreckage of the machines, lying on the ground, was critically wounded in the neck.

Dublin Stunned
DUBLIN, Aug. 23. (By the Associated Press).—"The city of Dublin is stunned today by the news that Michael Collins, chief of the Irish provisional government and commander-in-chief of the Free State army, was struck down from an airplane last night, by an assassin's bullet at Bandon, County Cork.

The tragedy was all the more shocking coming so soon after the sudden death of Arthur Griffith, president of the Dail Eireann cabinet, who was considered Collins' intellectual counterpart in the arduous task of setting up the new Free State government.

KIDDIES WILL MISS OUTING

The McManus Picnic Not to Be Held This Year is Belief

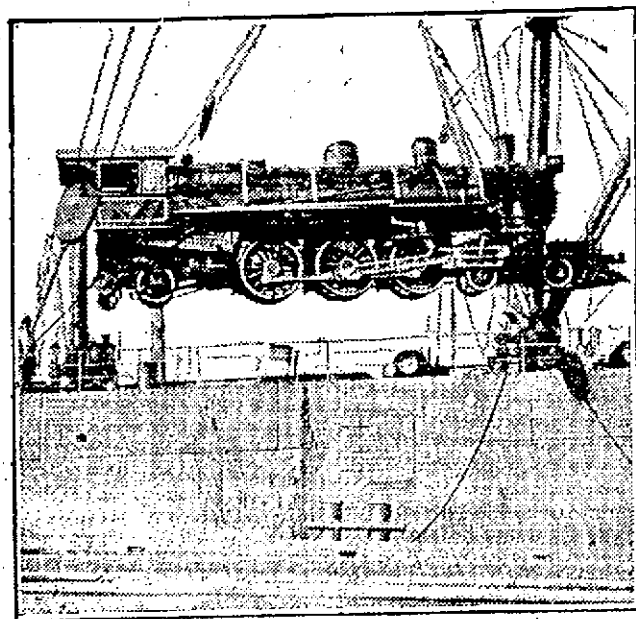

The Time is Too Short Before School Opening to Stage Outing

There will be no McManus picnic this year. At least this conclusion may be drawn from the present condition of affairs regarding this popular outing. There are three or four logical reasons why it is reasonable to suppose this popular children's day at Mountain Rock will be abandoned for this year, and possibly for all time. First, there is no one who seems to want to put it across. Second, the American legion, which was being counted upon by many to take up the task will be unable to do so for several good reasons. Third, the time is too short before the children return to school to stage a picnic. Fourth, it is believed that the children have been pretty well cared for in the line of picnics this summer.

Kiddies Were Happy
When Constable John McManus was alive and in his prime, the children of the city, especially the poor ones, looked forward to the picnic with as much anticipation and pleasure as they did to Christmas. It was a gala day in their lives. From the time that (Continued to Page 9)

Tells Police He Killed Ordway Hall

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—John F. Tyler, who came to the Roxbury police station last night and told the police that he was the man who killed Ordway Hall, a store manager, in 1917, was under observation at the psychopathic hospital today. He told a rambling story. Jesse Murphy was recently brought to this city from Philadelphia where he made a signed confession that he shot and killed Hall and Thomas J. Foley, another store manager.

Says Woman's Death "Horrible Accident"

GREELEY, Colo., Aug. 23.—From his cell where he is held on a charge of first degree murder, A. J. Lowe, an insurance agent today declared the death on July 2, of his sister-in-law, Edna J. Skinner, 22, school teacher, was a "horrible accident."

Hotels Forced Back to American Plan

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 23.—Prohibition gradually is forcing hotels back to the American plan, according to delegates assembled here for the annual convention of the International Stewards' convention, which entered upon its second day today. "The eating habits of the American hotel guests have been changed by the Volstead Act," declared C. H. Harrington, a New York caterer. "The lobster supper patron, the beau brummel who dined on chicken à la king, in brief, the evening trade, is gone. Instead, the demand is for the heavy meal, or the table d'hôte dinner," he added.

Lt. Gov. Barrows May Sue Gov. McKelvie

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 23.—In a statement made public today Lieutenant Governor P. A. Barrows declared he had consulted an attorney for the purpose of bringing suit against Governor McKelvie to recover $1700 which he claims due him as acting governor while the chief executive was out of the state. Much publicity was recently attached to Mr. Barrows when it was discovered he was in the employ of a railroad at a wage of $5 a day while acting governor.

3rd Injunction Against Clothing Workers

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23.—A third injunction was granted here today placing further restrictions on the operations of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, which organization, it was alleged, has resorted to violence and intimidation in endeavoring to unionize shops in this city.

MAJ. NICHOLSON'S CASE

Said to Have Reiterated Charge of Prussianism in Army at Hearing

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—An army board of inquiry expected today to conclude its hearing of the appeal brought by Major Malcolm Wheeler-Nicholson from the action of the classification board in transferring him from Class A 16 B in the army lists. Major Nicholson was recently court-martialed as a result of a letter he is alleged to have written Pres. Harding, charging Prussianism in the army. Arguments in the appeal were to be heard today, after which the record was to be prepared for transmission to the classification board at Washington.

Major Nicholson, in a two hour personal statement to the board yesterday, was quoted as having reiterated his charges of Prussianism.

"Our army today is at about the same stage as the German army found itself after the defeat at Jena," he is alleged to have said. "It is the same as the French army in 1870."

He asserted that he could not understand why constructive criticism should not be welcomed in the army.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE: Final performances will be given this evening at the Merrimack Square theatre of "If You Believe It, It's So," starring Thomas Melgan, Marion Davies in "The Young Girl," and a second big attraction. There will be a complete change of program tomorrow. The leading attractions for Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be Booth Tarkington's noted story, "Penrod," with Wesley "Preckles" Barry in the title role and Constance Talmadge in "Wedding Bells."

All the impishness of American boyhood jumps to the screen in "Penrod." Demonstrating how many escapades an enterprising American youth can get into seems to be the chief object of the story. One of the most humorous scenes shows how Penrod makes his bow in amateur theatricals when Mrs. Laura Bewick produces her own brain child, "The Children's Pageant," the Round Table.

Unlike modern femininity, Penrod carries a strict aversion to legs, especially when his upper trunk is a recognizable remnant from Dad's last winter's red flannel underwear. So Penrod scurries into the dressing room of the leading lady and jumps into a pair of borrowed undies about four sizes too large. In a most impressive scene in that follows Penrod's upholstered costume slips and the result is a sure laugh producer.

The fact that the local high school students recently presented "Penrod" as a stage production will give added interest to the screen portrayal at this time.

Preckles Barry in the role of Penrod is said to give the most creditable and laughable performance of his career.

"Wedding Bells," the other big feature for the week-end, gives pretty and capable Constance Talmadge opportunity to play an exceptionally entertaining role.

THE STRAND

The picture of Constance Talmadge creating a new kind of content and genuine interest among all the patrons of The Strand. If you haven't seen some of your Elvita friends "on the screen" you should not allow the opportunity to pass. See them today at The Strand. They're great. This feature is in addition to the regular semi-weekly program which includes Coleman Moore in the bright, Irish comedy "Drama by Hupert Hughes, called 'Come On Over,' and Hoot Gibson in 'Up on the Roof'."

Two really good picture spots are to be shown during the last three days of the week, beginning with matinee on Thursday, Mary Alden, who portrayed the role of the mother in "The Old Nest" will be starred in "The Man With Two Mothers." She is to be assisted by Cullen Landis, Sylvia Breamer and other cast. The other feature will be Viola Dana in a gay comedy of embarrassment—the story of an amateur scandal-maker, entitled "Seeing is Believing." The usual comedy and weekly will help round out a meritorious program.

DEMSKI HELD WITHOUT BAIL FOR MURDER

FALL RIVER, Aug. 23.—Peter Demski, who killed his wife and step-daughter with blows inflicted with the blunt end of an axe during a quarrel at their home, 74 Hunter street, on the morning of Aug. 16, was today found probably guilty of murder after a hearing before Judge Edward F. Hanly, and was bound over to the grand jury without bail.

TWO KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

CARIBOU, Me., Aug. 23.—Mrs. Andrew Pearson of Portland, who was critically injured last night when an automobile driven by her husband, plunged through a bridge railing into Caribou stream, killing her ten-year-old son, Oscar, and Mrs. Jesse Jackson of Portland, was conscious today. Physicians had hopes of her ultimate recovery. Pearson, who was slightly injured, was able to proceed with relatives to New Sweden, where the party had intended to make visit. Mrs. Jackson's two children, although severely injured, are not on the danger list.

EIGHT MEN ARRESTED IN TOBACCO THEFTS

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—Four men, employees of the firm of Philip Assner & Co., tobaccoists, were arrested late yesterday charged with larceny from the company and four others were arrested charged with receiving stolen goods valued at $3000.

The men charged with larceny are Joseph E. and Peter Burke of Roxbury, Harold Goff of Jamaica Plain and Roger Colton of Boston. These men, with the exception of Jos. Burke, are chauffeurs. Burke is a salesman. Christopher McCarthy of Boston, Patrick J. Burke of Roslindale, David Collins of Jamaica Plain and George Sullivan of Boston, owners of small fruit stores, were those charged with receiving the stolen goods.

The police say that the stealing has extended over a period of two years, and that the value of the goods stolen during that time will easily reach $10,000.

The men were held in heavy bail.

The University of Prague had 10,000 students in the fifteenth century.

JUDGE CROSBY GRANTS WHIPPLE'S PETITION

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—Judge Crosby of the Massachusetts supreme court yesterday allowed a motion by Sherman J. Whipple, Boston attorney, to dismiss charges made against him in amendments to the bill of equity recently filed against the H. V. Greene financial organizations seeking to recover $14,000,000 invested by 60,000 persons. He gave the plaintiff, the Boston Legal society, 30 days in which to file additional amendments. Arthur D. Hill, counsel for the society, agreed to Mr. Whipple's contention that the charges made in the amendments, to the effect that Mr. Whipple had received large and unreasonable fees in connection with the financing of the Greene concerns, could not be sustained, but said he believed there were indications that Mr. Whipple had received certain fees and profits in this connection. He asserted that Mr. Whipple was seeking a retraction in the form of a statement that there was no case against him and added:

"That I am not prepared to give." In allowing the motion, Judge Crosby said: "An attorney at law is an officer of the court and no charges ought to be brought against him without reasonable cause of believing them true. It seems that these charges were made on information that turned out to be incorrect. I am not charging anyone with intentional wrong, but it seems to me that counsel ought to be pretty well informed in such serious charges. I think these charges admittedly without foundation ought to be struck out of the bill. At the same time the plaintiffs have the right to offer any amendments which may make intelligible and clear the allegations of the bill or make new allegations."

GETTING AFTER RHODE ISLAND AUTOISTS

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—Notice that the Massachusetts authorities intend to enforce the motor vehicle headlight rules and regulations against out of state cars was sent today by Frank A. Goodwin, registrar of motor vehicles in this state, to George D. Wellington, Providence, R. I., who has charge of motor vehicle law enforcement in that state.

During the past few weeks there has been a marked increase in the number of complaints registered with the Massachusetts authorities, to the effect that cars bearing Rhode Island registrations have been using the roads in this state at night with glaring lights, and Registrar Goodwin has decided that drastic action is necessary to put a stop to the practice.

In his letter to Mr. Wellington, he says: "Mr. Wellington: "So many complaints are coming to this office about the failure of Rhode Island motorists to conform to the Massachusetts headlight rules and regulations that it will be necessary to enter upon a campaign of strict enforcement."

"I wish you would get word through the newspapers to the motorists of your state that our law must be complied with, and that we are going to prosecute for failure to do so. We are prosecuting all Massachusetts operators who do not have proper lenses and bulbs, and whose lamps are not focused properly, and there is a general feeling of discontent among Massachusetts motorists against the department for letting Rhode Island motorists violate our law with impunity."

"Hoping you will get word to your motorists, I remain,

"Very truly yours,

"FRANK A. GOODWIN, Registrar."

FRUSTRATE ATTEMPT OF AGED MAN TO END LIFE

SALEM, Aug. 23.—A strange set of circumstances combined today to frustrate the plans for suicide made by David Crowley, an aged resident at a Broad street boarding house.

Sgt. Duffy of the Salem police force was expecting an important letter and requested a newspaper man to call at the postoffice early today to see if it had arrived. A clerk found no letter for Sgt. Duffy, but did find one addressed to the "deek man" at the police station, which was taken to headquarters.

It was from David Crowley, stating that he intended to end his life, and enclosing 50 cents to pay for the gas he would use. Crowley also sent a receipt for a Liberty bond which was to be used to pay funeral expenses. A patrolman who rushed to Crowley's home found that he had just turned on the gas and had lain down on his bed. He told the police that it would not be delivered before noon. He said that he was more than 90 years old, had no friends or relatives and was ill.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL READY FOR FALL TERM

That the new high school building will be ready for occupancy by the time the schools reopen next month is the opinion of members of the building commission, and was frequently expressed at yesterday's meeting of that body. With much of the furniture in place, this opinion is believed to be well founded. The 1350 or more chairs in the building's auditorium are to be lettered and numbered, and this feature of the new section is deeply gratifying to the commission.

Among other details, an attempt will be made to prevent pupils from tracking dirt into the rooms, by the purchase of mats for the corridors. The new building still lacks completed sidewalks; consequently they cannot avoid bringing in dirt. A reduction of this feature, a nuisance which must prevail for some time, is sought by the commission.

Radio Will Make War Safe

THE AIR PILOT, THE MACHINE GUNNER, THE SEAMAN IN FUTURE WARFARE MAY BE A RADIO OPERATOR SAFELY DISTANT FROM THE SCENE OF OPERATIONS.

War, in the future, will be like an old-time Fourth of July celebration.

Thanks to radio.

Cannon will be thundering as old bombs will be bursting, machine guns, tanks, airplanes, battleships and all other instruments of warfare will continue their destruction of enemy property. No longer will they endanger human lives—unless one happens to be in the way. But no life will be in the way, because those controlling these weapons will be safely distant from the scenes of operations.

Instead of loading the guns or manning the tanks, airplanes and battleships, our soldiers and sailors of the future will be radio operators sitting at panels, with tubes, coils and dials before them. They will control the firing at the front just as though they were actually in the thick of the fight. Only, instead of a company of men there will be one man—the radio operator controlling the operations of a whole "company of weapons."

Impossible?

More than a year ago the navy department demonstrated the practicability of controlling the movements of a battleship by radio. Their subject was the old battleship, Iowa, of Spanish war fame. All its moving parts were radio-equipped before the vessel was put out to sea.

All that man had to do on the battleship was start the oil burners and the engines. Then, without a man on board, the ship sailed forth on the Virginia capes. It was under the control of the radio operator on the battleship Ohio, five miles away.

For hours this ship was maneuvered to all sorts of positions and at various speeds—by the radio operator, five miles away!

No gun was fired, but naval engineers at the time expressed the belief that this could be done by radio just as easily as the ship's movements were controlled.

On the basis of this experiment, a whole fleet of radio-controlled warships can be imagined. Mine-layers, submarines and even the destructive torpedo could be directed by radio.

In fact, John Hays Hammond Jr., famous inventor, has already perfected a wireless control of torpedoes which virtually chases down the enemy submarine.

Land Warfare

On land, as well as at sea, radio could be effective. Bombs could be dropped from manless airplanes. Guns could be exploded at will by operators miles behind the firing line. Manless tanks could raid enemy territory and destroy enemy property.

Here again, this possibility has been demonstrated. Captain R. B. Vaughn of the United States aviation service has been working on a radio-controlled tank, which, with radio-controlled machine guns on board, could be used as a dangerous weapon in war. One danger to human life may remain. That is when, during calm intervals at night, men will have to come up to the front to inspect the weapons and prepare for the next day's fighting. But victory will depend, not on the killing of men, but on the destruction of enemy weapons and property.

The Greek church employs two rings in the wedding ceremony, one gold, the other silver.

RELICS OF JENNY LIND

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 23.—Costumes and other relics of the two Swedish nightingales, Jenny Lind and Christina Nilsson, will be displayed along with a collection of other treasures of theatrical history in Sweden's first dramatic museum which will be opened during the latter part of August. The collection is being installed in the historic old Royal theatre in the Castle of Drottningholm, which was patronized nearly 200 years ago by King Gustav III, a famous protector of drama and the arts.

Among the interesting stage "props" that delighted the gallery gods of the 18th century, and have been stored away in the mouldy vaults of the castle, are a dust-covered set of ocean waves and a couple of chariots, with clouds attached for the exclusive use of the gods of Olympus. The picture collection, which includes stage settings, costume plates, portraits, etc., covers the theatrical history of various countries, and with respect to certain periods of French history is the most complete in the world. The theatre itself and the stage machinery will be restored to its original character.

Jenny Lind, it will be remembered, is the singer who gave music in America its first great impetus when she appeared at Castle Garden, New York, in 1850 under the management of P. T. Barnum.

The United States Patent office has issued more than 1300 patents for making buttons.

LF is only a symptom of trouble somewhere in your system. If your headache comes from your eyes, consult an oculist at once, but if you have a headache with furrowed tongue, nausea, loss of appetite and constipation, it usually comes from disordered digestion or torpid liver and one or two doses of "L.F." Atwood's Medicine will give speedy relief by carrying off impurities and restoring the clogged digestive organs to their normal activity. In using this old reliable remedy you take no chances. It has a record of more than sixty years as a safe headache remedy.

WORK ON CONFEDERATE MEMORIAL MONUMENT

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 23.—(By the A. P.)—Preparations are nearing completion for the resumption of work on the confederate memorial on the east side of Stone Mountain, an undertaking interrupted by the world war.

Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, who was engaged by the United Daughters of the Confederacy, under whose auspices the monument is to be hewn out of the face of the great monolith, has already returned to Atlanta and is shaping his plans to take up the work where it was left off when Uncle Sam's demands incident to America's entry into the world war temporarily halted completion of this memorial to the heroes of another day.

Mr. Borglum is having a specially designed lens ground for the projection of figures of increased size against the side of the huge mass of granite, by means of which with a powerful light photographs of models may be thrown against the face of the mountain in great sizes.

Such methods have never been used before, according to the sculptor, who has gotten down to the actual work of drawing in the groups of heroic figures to be carved out of the side of the big rock. The work of projection has to be done at night, but the sculptor added that it is practicable. "Why I told the sculptors they could project pictures on Mars, if they could get a powerful enough light," he said.

Carving will begin either at the head of General Robert E. Lee or that of President Andrew Jackson, but the sculptor said he was not sure which. A crew of men has been at work for several weeks extending the scaffolding to the point on the mountain side where will rest the principal group, and various electrical and compressed air apparatus also has arrived and is ready for installation, Mr. Borglum said.

The project calls for the carving in bas-relief on the nearly perpendicular side of Stone Mountain of a colossal monumental panorama to commemorate the heroic deeds of the confederate armies. This side of the mountain plain and stretching for mile or more of gigantic sculptured figures of men and horses, fifty or more feet in height, with all the paraphernalia of war.

The mountain side and an extensive tract of land on the plain at the base of the mountain to provide a national park, and stretching for mile or more of gigantic sculptured figures of men and horses, fifty or more feet in height, with all the paraphernalia of war.

Stone Mountain is 15 miles east of Atlanta. It is said to be the largest solid granite monolith in the world, rising 655 feet above the surrounding plain and standing a dome-like mass of solid rock, seven miles in circumference.

CUBA TURNS TO SPAIN

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 23.—(Increase in the population of Cuba from 3,000,000 to 10,000,000, mainly through Spanish immigrants, is one of the purposes of the new secretary of state, Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, former Cuban minister at Washington.

"The secretary believes that Spanish immigrants, for numerous reasons, will make the most desirable additions to Cuba's population, and is holding conferences with his colleagues on the best methods to bring these elements to the island. The necessity of checking the flow of workers from Cuban main islands to Spain, caused by unfavorable financial conditions, and the advisability of counteracting the flood of Chinese, Jamaicans and Italians is being stressed by Dr. de Cespedes.

HARDING AND HIS PARTY

Here we are in the midst of the harvest season with the miners' strike and that of the railroad shop workers still in full swing. President Harding has been selling both for the past month or two and today they appear quite as far from settlement as when he first interposed as mediator. He has written letters and held numerous conferences dealing with both conflicts and on the rail strike especially, he has left the situation more complex than when he first began to deal with the executives and the heads of the railroad unions.

Nothing can more expose the weakness of the man and his lack of executive capacity than the manner in which he has handled the strike situation from the first time he touched it. Some people refer to what Roosevelt would have done under similar conditions or what President Cleveland would have done if such a situation confronted him. It is almost an insult to the memory of either of those two great men to institute any comparison between them and President Harding. All that can be said of the present occupant of the White House is, that he is a well meaning man, that he muddles and wiggles and waffles along, always doing the best he can and that in spite of his real, his efforts are generally futile and frequently wrong. If the president's capacity and worth as an executive are to be rated upon his efforts to settle the two great strikes now threatening to paralyze the industries of the country, he must be set down as one of the weakest and most vacillating men who ever held the high office.

Taking the president's failure to settle the strikes in addition to the Newberry scandal and the monstrosity put forth as a tariff bill by the senate after 15 months of log rolling by the predatory interests, it will appear that the republican party instead of solving the great questions of reconstruction with some business sagacity and within a reasonable time, it has failed utterly in constructive statesmanship and at a time when the industries of the nation expected to start on an era of prosperity, they are confronted with a coal famine and a general tie-up of the railroads that threaten suffering and privation to every city, town and hamlet in the land. This is a summary of republican performance at Washington since the party was placed in control of the government by one of the largest majorities in the history of the country. The people will doubtless hasten to reverse their action and to turn out the republican incompetents, hag and baggage, at the earliest opportunity.

Hughes to the Rescue

It is not surprising, therefore, that republican candidates seeking nomination are meeting with reverses that indicate a general revolution of public sentiment in regard to the party and its performance at Washington. The defeats administered in Pennsylvania, Indiana, Iowa and in other states, leave no room for doubt that the republican party is politically doomed. The leaders are generally alarmed and believing that the Newberry issue has had something to do with bringing about these adverse results, they have prevailed upon Secretary Hughes to come out and furnish his reputation by giving Newberry a coat of whiteness.

It will be remembered that Justice Hughes was counsel for Newberry before the supreme court and that through his ability as a lawyer, he succeeded in keeping Newberry out of jail by raising a legal technicality that the federal government had no power to control primary elections, and it was at the primaries that Newberry lavished nearly $300,000 in order to secure the nomination for senator and to defeat Henry Ford, his opponent. It is to be regretted that Secretary Hughes has so far degraded his official standing as secretary of state and as an ex-justice of the supreme court of the United States, as to pull the political chestnuts of the republican leaders out of the fire. But in spite of his declaration the Newberry issue will not down. On the contrary, it will be made more prominent by the fact that Secretary Hughes shows that it was on a mere technicality that Newberry secured a reversal of the federal court's sentence to jail and a fine of $10,000. Moreover, when the republican leaders in congress voted to allow him to retain his seat they condemned the excessive use of money as used in the Michigan election, and stated that it was a menace to our free institutions. If it were so obvious then it is equally so now and not even the prestige and high standing of Secretary Hughes can change public sentiment in reference to the republican crime that will go down in history as a national disgrace.

WHOLESALE PRICES

Average wholesale prices are now reported one tenth higher than a year ago, which does not seem with the view of the manufacturers that prices are gravitating back to the level of 1914 any more than 1912, 1910 or any other year. This is an absurd view. Why 1914 any more than 1912, 1910 or any previous year. We note that most of those who discuss wages and make wage charts indicating the percentage of present wages over 1914, show an inclination to assert that wages today should be back at the 1914 level to be just and fair. But these statisticians do not take into account the fact that the percentage of the present cost of living over that of 1914. It is the purchasing power of the dollar that tells the tale. It makes little difference to the wage earner whether he gets 120, 130 or 150 per cent of what he got in 1914. What matters is the purchasing power of the dollar. If the purchasing power of the dollar is to be maintained, wages must be increased in proportion. If the purchasing power of the dollar is to be maintained, the same rule would apply to the cost of living. Since the war we have been passing through a period of deflation under which wages and prices should have been reduced in equal degree. If they have not been reduced by the conflicts now in progress over wage reductions in textile factories, on railroads and in the mines.

PROBING CANCER CAUSES

The so-called "Cancer Campaign" participated in by many Lowell physicians and surgeons and citizens at large a few short months ago, was productive in more ways than one. The splendid support given to the medical men in their active warfare on this insidious enemy, as it has long been termed, indicates that the campaign against cancer is renewed and gaining impetus daily. All good health workers are proud of the work performed by many Lowell citizens in adding the campaign against cancer to the records already under control before the disease is swollen any more than they are at the present time, with cancer steadily increasing.

The first real move by the United States health authorities to investigate the cause of cancer is to be started in Boston, where headquarters for the work are now being opened. A group of noted men are now engaged in investigations of the disease at the different private medical institutions in the Hub, and will be asked to co-operate with Dr. J. W. Scherschowsky, assistant surgeon-general of the United States Public Health Service. We understand that Dr. Scherschowsky will have charge of the investigations and will enlist the services in this section not only of cancer specialists, but also of the laboratory facilities of different institutions in Massachusetts. The purpose, of course, is to place cancer in the category with malaria, typhus, polio and such other diseases as have been brought under control through the efforts of government scientists and other noted investigators.

THE LAWRENCE STRIKE

It seems that, despite the fact that the Lawrence strike has been running for twenty-two weeks, the strikers are not ready to accept the offer of the Pacific Mills, the largest involved in the controversy. That offer was, that the operatives return to work under the reduced wages and that by October 1, the old wage schedule would be restored and made retroactive to September 5. The operatives have not gone back, the pacifics have increased their activity, and the question now discussed is, whether the Pacific Mills will invite the operatives back at the old scale of wages on September 5. If it should, then other mills in Lawrence, and perhaps in other cities also would do likewise and the whole trouble would thus be ended. This future course of endeavor is raising the hopes of the whole community, but it is hoped that the whole deplorable business will be put aside by September 5, at the latest, so that all the mills now affected by strikers may resume with their full force of employees.

THE HOUSING PROBLEM

A $5,000,000 building project, in which houses will be built for $5 a room monthly, is being planned by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. Mr. Haley Pike, the company's president, turned the first spadeful of earth, in Long Island City. It is an experiment in scientific economics, and but one of many regular and philanthropic enterprises conducted by this progressive company. In the beautiful mountains of West Virginia, the Raleigh-Wyoming Coal company tries a similar plan on a cheaper scale. Bungalows are provided for miners and have electric lights, bathrooms, running spring water, open fireplaces, etc. The rent is only $2 a room a month. The difference between the $3 and the $2 in land values and the "de-strable sites" of congestion.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY

The various Standard Oil companies own only 34 per cent of the oil refining capacity of the United States and Mexico. They produce only a fifth of America's crude oil. So says R. L. Welch, secretary of American Petroleum Institute. On this basis, the independent oil interests combined appear more powerful than the Standard, with cash investment twice as big. Standard Oil has been accused of many things, never of inefficiency. It attains its power from organization, while the smaller concerns plod along without combining their forces for their mutual benefit.

No wonder some metropolitan readers of the scream editions have the blues when they look for the latest installment of one of those shock stories and find it condensed to about fourteen lines. Incidentally, the number of stories based on the Arabian knight with the fascinating eyes, is fast approaching the well known zenith in number and similarity.

Canadian industries are reported to be as busy as the noted beaver, with employment one of the rarest things known across the border. That new disputes investigation act may prove to be a panacea for strike ills after all.

Camp Devens will remain on the map as a permanent camping ground for the national guardians of New England, if officers of the line have anything to say about it.

Before long our Oriental friend across the western seas, Dr. Sun Yat Sen, will have nothing to do but sell his name to a biscuit maker.

The sprightly Wayne Wheeler calls a well known New England congressman "100 per cent alcoholic," but fails to give us the legal proof.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Donald J. Murphy, chairman of the board of public service, is on his vacation as are other members of the board. And from reports coming to me of what is on tap for the next meeting of the board, which is to be held on September 7, the members need a rest to prepare for what is to come. The first meeting in September will be an all day affair. At noon the board will meet and go out on twelve or fourteen views. This will take up most of the afternoon. At night the board will settle down and have a long session on the views taken in the afternoon. After that the bills for the month of August will be brought up for approval and other business will crop out that is bound to hold the board in session until nearly midnight. It will be remembered that the last session hereat until the early hours of the morning. What will the next one bring forth?

Supt. of Streets Harry P. Doherty tells me that the Annie Street parkway, now under construction, will be completed in about three weeks' time. He says that the reason the work is being held up is on account of the inability of the department to secure clenders and other materials with which to complete the work. The mills at present this summer are turning out very little lumber and what are made are being rapidly used. The railroad strike is also interfering with the work as cement and other supplies have been held up on the way here. It is planned to have that part of the parkway completed as far as the high school completed, the remainder will be rushed to completion two weeks later. The work of putting in part of the sidewalks was begun today and will be hurried along.

My old friend, ex-Sheriff and Superior Court Officer George Stiles is in a happy frame of mind these days. I was talking with him only yesterday and he seemed so chipper and gay that I could not help but inquiring the reason. "Why, the horse racing season is here in full swing at the present time," was his answer. And then he cordially invited me to take a little trip up country with him for a couple of days to take in the races at Greenfield, N. H. But our country season has not yet arrived and with some pleasant thoughts of his coming trip and the delightful time I would surely have, I had to decline the invitation. When speaking of horsemen and lovers of horseflesh there are none in this city of ours who know more about such animals than Mr. Stiles. For years he has followed the sport of horseracing and is keenly interested in the sale of thoroughbreds and high priced horses in general. He never "plays" the races; that isn't the kind of sport he is after; but just for fun, some time notice him when at a race, as he sits contentedly back and watches the trotters and pacers whirl around the track and you will know what I mean. His every expression will tell you the statement that horse-racing is only a sport for kings.

One of the board of assessors stood from his office in city hall this morning and started for the basement. He passed him and asked how things were progressing in the department. "Well," he said, "that office resembles a regular boiler factory of blacksmiths with all the noise and heat and so on. He went on to explain that the force was busy building up the work on the taxes and that to do this work many adding machines and typewriters were pressed into service. During down the hall it was noted for what this assessor was doing. As I neared the door I could hear the clicking and the banging of typewriters as the clerks went about their work and the rattling of endless columns of figures and writing out certain letters on the machines.

OUTING FOR CHILDREN

Twenty or more children at the children's home in Bedford square, were made happy yesterday when they were taken to a camp for the day where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Ryan. The guests were transported in one of the big motor cars of the city. Miss Helen O'Leary, matron at the home, at noon luncheon was served by Mrs. Ryan. Games were played and a number of children went in bathing later in the afternoon.

TEACHERS ELECTED

At a recent meeting of the Chelmsford school board the following were elected to fill the vacancies in the teaching force of the town schools: Marion G. Gifford, New Bedford, in English at the high school; Kate D. Greenleaf of the Centre, Mary R. Daly of North Chelmsford, Edith Field of West Chelmsford, and Mrs. Sheehan of Lowell, to the grade schools. The resignation of Miss C. Mildred Winnie, as school nurse, was received and accepted with regret with an expression of appreciation for the work accomplished. The vacancy created has not as yet been filled.

A Thought

Work, according to my feeling, is as much of a necessity to man as eating and sleeping. Even those who do nothing which to a sensible man can be called work, still imagine that they are doing something. The world possesses not a man who is an idler in his own eyes.—W. von Humboldt.

Servicing the King

A recruiting sergeant, with an eye to business, approached a smart-looking lad who was on a milk route in the neighborhood of Buckingham Palace. "Well, my lad, and how would you like to serve the king?" The lad also had an eye to business and promptly replied: "Fine, sir—How much does he take a day?"

Today's Word

Today's word is—stultify. It's pronounced—stul-ee-fy, with accent on the first syllable. It means—to make a fool of. It comes from—Latin—"stultus," foolish. It's used like this—"Mexico has succeeded, rather cleverly, in stultifying the United States by her complaint concerning the killing of two of her citizens during the mine labor troubles at Herrin, Ill."

Had Seen Him Before

A college professor who is head of the department of physics went away for a few days' visit. On the train on his way home he sat next to a man he thought he knew. He said: "You look mighty like I've seen you somewhere before." The young man smiled and said: "I think you have. I am a student at the college where you teach and I live in your house."—Indianapolis News.

Don't be Discouraged

More than 1,000,000 American children between the ages of 10 and 15 work for a living. The census shows this. You reflect that it is rather a black eye for civilization. But don't be discouraged. The wind is blowing in the right direction. The number of child laborers is decreasing. In mining for instance only 40 children between 10 and 15 are employed for each 100 children 16 years and over.

Had the Same Line

President Nelson of Smith college was in conversation with a drummer. The drummer was dull and the traveling salesman was better than no company at all. Dr. Nelson soon discovered that his companion had mistaken him for a drummer and did nothing to correct the impression. Said the drummer, "What's your line?" Nelson's reply was: "I'm a president."—Chicago News.

Drifting From Baseball

Horseshoe pitching now has 1,000,000 players, says H. G. Leighton, head of this sport's national association. This and the increasing popularity of golf indicate a gradual drift away from baseball. And back of that is a national psychological wave, a general desire to get actual exercise out of sport instead of sitting comfortably in a grandstand and watching other people do it. It is an important and valuable change.

Excellent Portrait

A professor had been lecturing, and as he left the classroom he found that one of his students had dropped his book and a spot upon which he had drawn the picture of a donkey. He said nothing at the time, but the next day, when he stood before the class, he prefaced his lecture with the remark: "Gentlemen, I have to thank one of your number for placing this picture in my lecture notes. He was too modest to leave his name, but his portrait was excellent."

The Old Pilot Speaks

Scarcely a day goes by when the ships, taking slowly by the marshes of Hingham and Cape May. The silver ships, the sailing ships, the blue and white sails, the masts and rigging, now it's liners, cargo vessels, wanderer's trampers come in to port. Bigger money, but, oh, how it gives me back the grand old sport.

As practice boys we roamed the bay with every breeze that blew. Many a storm and icy gale that we have weathered through. A ship ahoy! the pilot ships would come from the back and watch the complete gleaming mountain-high spray blowing wild like lace.

I've sailed through many a misty night, lighterless, till morning came. To cheat a rival of a ship—our lives at stake on the game. In the blinding, howling tempest we'd board a schooner's side, our sailing boats catching like a swiftly landing tide.

On an old ship the masts and rigging, the white sails, the blue and white sails, the masts and rigging, now it's liners, cargo vessels, wanderer's trampers come in to port. Bigger money, but, oh, how it gives me back the grand old sport.

By the way, the old pilot speaks. "Temporary Verse" for August.

HELD SPECIAL TOWN MEETING

The following appropriations were voted at a special town meeting held in Billerica Centre Monday night: $6,000 for the extension of the water main on the Boston road to the new Shawheen school; $2,000 for enlarging the playing surface on the Kohlman playground; $2,000 for furniture and equipment for the Shawheen school; $500 for a water main extension on Twombly avenue and Sprague avenue; $400 for a water main extension on Elm street to the corner of Brown street; $125 for the purchase of land to the heirs of Dudley Foster and the Martha Prescott estate, which was taken for the building of the new bridge across the Concord river; $700 for the highway department to cover a deficit of $403.65 for snow work last winter and to provide a balance to be expended for this work the remainder of the year; $150 for vocational school tuition; $400 for soldiers' relief. The highway surveyor was authorized to expend $1600 which was voted at the last annual town meeting for macadam on Cedar street and use said sum to gravel and oil this street. The dog tax received from the county will go to the credit of the schools, this action being taken under article 17. There were about 200 present at the meeting, many of them being women who took much interest in the proceedings, and the session passed off without the debate that usually occurs in the consideration of large appropriations. A total of $13,475 was voted, of which sum $4975 was raised and will affect this year's tax rate. The remaining sum of $8500 is to be borrowed and is to be paid within five years. Charles H. Eames was moderator.

HAMPTON BEACH BATHERS WARNED

Hampton beach bathers are warned not to attempt swims of any great length during the next two weeks, according to Captain J. B. Meyers of the Hampton beach coast guard station. The reason given for the suggestion is that high tides and undertows are prevalent at this season of the year so that long distance swimmers should refrain from straying out too far.

ROAD NARROW ESCAPE

Mrs. A. L. Dunham, her two daughters and housekeeper, had a narrow escape from asphyxiation by gas at their home in Chelmsford Centre yesterday. A gas pipe attached to the water heater became disconnected and one after the other the four were overcome. Mrs. Dunham managed to summon a physician and her husband, who upon their arrival removed them to the open air, where they were revived.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

A TONIC

When life seems devoid of all color,
And totally lacking in zest,
When things "simply couldn't be duller,"
I go on a bit of a quest,
And down where the slums are a quiver
With heat one can scarcely abide,
I fill up the seats of my flivver
With children—and go for a ride.

With six, eight, or ten of them, maybe,
Or all that the flivver will bear,
From twelve-year-olds down to the baby,
I take them out into the air;
And as we drive on where the breezes
Can fan them for mile upon mile,
Each prospect they gaze upon please,
And nothing whatever is vile.

So, hearing their laughter and chatter,
And seeing their faces aglow
I wonder what could be the matter
To make me think living was slow!
Their bliss ends my whining and pouting,
And lays my cares up on the shelf,
And while they're enjoying their outing
I'm having a picnic, myself!

Rescued From Wrecked Sea-plane by United States Cruiser Denver

Plane Fell While Flying From Nassau to Haiti on Way to Rio de Janeiro

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The United States cruiser Denver, which rescued Lieutenant Walter Hinton and his companions from the wrecked sea-plane Sampain Correlia, is on its way to Key West, naval officials here said today. The sea-plane fell while flying from Nassau to Haiti on the way from New York to Rio de Janeiro. It was reported that a heavy fog was on its way to the damaged flying boat and would attempt to tow her into Guantanamo or some other southern port in an effort to salvage the craft so the flight can be resumed. The Sampain Correlia left New York on August 17, to make the flight by stages, planning to arrive in Rio de Janeiro in time for the centennial exposition there. She left Nassau yesterday morning, and meager dispatches received here state that she was wrecked when Lieutenant Hinton misjudged his distance in dropping to the water.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—(By the Associated Press)—An Evening News despatch from Dublin today says it is believed Michael Collins was accompanied by seven Free State staff officers, including Major General Dalton, when the Free State chief was killed from ambush last night at Bandon. Several soldiers, the despatch says, are believed to have been killed or wounded during the attack.

Do Not Fear de Valera's Return

LONDON, Aug. 23.—Commenting upon the assassination of Michael Collins, the Evening Standard says it is only a few days ago that the commander-in-chief, alluding to the lamented death of Arthur Griffith, remarked on the malignant fate which seemed to pursue Ireland at every crisis in her history. The Standard continued:

"The assassination of Collins himself is an even heavier blow upon the part of this harsh and perverse destiny, for while the Irish commander-in-chief was capable in some measure of repaying the loss of Griffith's statesmanship, it is difficult to see who is to fill the place of Collins."

"The Standard thinks the danger to Ireland is not the return of Eamon de Valera to power. 'What threatens most,' it says, 'is not the strength of the Free State's enemies, but the weakness of its supporters.'"

The newspaper considers de Valera as broken beyond repair.

The Pall Mall Gazette and Globe says it is unfortunate that the latest blow of the republican movement had been broken in the field.

"A few weeks earlier de Valera's following would have gained new and infectious courage from the disappearance of their most formidable opponent."

The Evening News says, "The killing of Collins adds another chapter to the melancholy story that since it was written of themselves. It is a sad thing for the better Irish that their leaders should have been sacrificed in a minor encounter in this wretched game of de Valera's."

says the correspondent of the Daily Mail with the national army in the field. The republican leader and all the members of his contingent are reported to be mounted on hunters, he says.

De Valera is believed to be either in the neighborhood of Fermoy, County Cork, where it is known he has friends, or in the Kerry hills, where a large number of his followers are concentrated.

Several attacks have been made against the life of Michael Collins, head of the provisional government and commander-in-chief of the Irish national army. The latest attempt was a bombing outrage when his car was ambushed last Friday afternoon on the Dublin side of Sillergue. The Collins communication issued in connection with this attack did not indicate whether Mr. Collins was in the machine at the time. The driver was wounded and the car was wrecked, a bomb and more than a score of shots being fired.

In Dublin on April 17, while Mr. Collins was on his way home after having addressed a meeting at Naas, County Kildare, he was attacked by a group of men, some with rifles, who rushed his car, and opened fire. The Collins party returned the fire and one of the assailants was captured. Collins was not injured.

Mr. Collins in addition to being commander-in-chief of the national army was finance minister in the Dail Eireann cabinet. He was one of those who succeeded in obtaining a temporary injunction in New York on Monday, restraining Eamon de Valera, or his agents from withdrawing funds collected for the Irish republican cause deposited in banks in New York city.

Collins, always an ardent Sinn Feiner, was among those leaders who, while holding to the fundamentals of tradition for the freedom of Ireland, still were willing to effect a peace with Great Britain. It became necessary in view of the recent operations of the irregular forces for Collins to assume active charge of the national army in the field and for some time past he had abandoned the civil part of the government for the military.

Americans recently arriving in London from Dublin declared that the assassination of Collins was forecast. Ireland. It was planned to secure the removal of the sole remaining outstanding figure in the provisional government, and it was said to be also in part a measure of reprisal against the shooting of Harry J. Boland, the close associate of Eamon de Valera, by Free State soldiers.

Agitation had been going on for a considerable time, and the walls of Trinity college and other public buildings bore the inscription "Harry Boland lives." Posters on telegraph poles insisted that Collins be shot by Free Staters when he was unarmed.

As a measure of precaution, extra guards were thrown around the national chief because the determination of the radical elements to rid the country of the strong man in the Free State was an open secret.

Of a retiring disposition and known as a man who "lodged the crowds," Collins, nevertheless, was a most assiduous worker, both in the government and in the field. He also was an orator of great ability, whose speeches generally moved his hearers.

With Arthur Griffith, Collins was considered one of the mainstays of the provisional government since its inception. In the Dail Eireann after the conclusion of the peace treaty with Great Britain, his ringing addresses upholding the stand of the Irish people, indeed, he once asserted the belief that an Irish settlement might form the basis for a real league of nations.

HARD COAL PARLEYS END—NO AGREEMENT

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23.—WITH the hard coal parleys broken up as a result of the inability of miners and operators to agree on the arbitration problem, those anxious for peace in the anthracite fields today commented upon the fact that the door was left open for future negotiations in the statement issued jointly by the negotiators. This statement, issued as there failed upon the conclusion of the four previous sessions, announced that the conference was unable to agree and that it had adjourned to meet at the call of the secretary upon the request of either side.

The operators today were pointing to the appeal with which they prepared the terms of their first proposals, in which they said that a serious shortage of anthracite has been created already and that further idleness would simply aggravate the situation, and, in the end, force the householders to use other fuel temporarily "to the ultimate detriment of the industry and those it employs."

alleged bootlegger with whom the local authorities just have had to deal. The prodigy gave his name as William H. Behm, and his age as 16. His business card supplied the further information that his "residence" was in Brooklyn. The authorities alleged that Behm dealt mostly in wholesale quantities, and had offered to get one "customer" anything "up to 100 cases."

According to the agents, Behm, who is a pale, thoughtful appearing lad, has amassed a small fortune. When he was arraigned for violating the Volstead Act, the $1,000 bail in which he was held was supplied at once.

MASS. MILLS' TEAM WINS OVER BROADWAYS AND MOVES UP A PEG

Bob Ganley's Outfit Quits Cellar After Being There All Season—Farrell and Brennan Star at the Bat—Score 10 to 5—Big Game Tonight

After an all-season sojourn in the cellar position of the Twilight League, the Massachusetts Mills team, by a 10 to 5 victory over the Broadways last night, took a step up the ladder, at the same time sending the Aces boys to the rear rank in the league reckoning. Due to the absence of the Broadways' ace, the Mills team was as formidable a lineup as they might have, a few unfamiliar faces occupying playing positions. Several of the regulars were assigned to unaccustomed parts to fill the existing vacancies. Consequently, play was a general rule, was erratic and there were no spectacular plays to remember. The Mills team, however, showed the confidence of the crowd. The Aces started in the box for the Broadways but retreated in the second after the Mills boys had jumped to the front with a six-run lead. Sturtevant replaced him and pitched fairly well, although he failed to subdue his opponent. The Mills team was the Mass. choice for the day work and while he was touched for a decade of statistics by the informal Broadways, he was a good pitcher. At shortstop, Klutka was a Gibraltar, accepting six difficult chances and assisting the party of the Mills team. The Mills team was a two-bagger in the fourth, according to the regulations of score-keeping, for his failure to score. Klutka, however, had the ball to right, scoring Brennan.

The Mills scored two runs in the first inning. Farrell, who had been in the game, singled and Klutka followed with a double to right. Brennan scored the Mills' first run. The Aces, however, ended the chapter by being thrown out at first. The Broadways did nothing in their half, although Fred Gleason, who had been in the game, connected for singles.

In the second, three more runs crossed the rubber to the advantage of the Mills outfit. The Aces started and ending with Farrell. The latter opened the frame by getting a life on an error by Brennan. Farrell, however, was out. Klutka, however, was given free tickets to the first station. When the momentary excitement of the Mills' lead was over, the Aces, however, were persistent, nevertheless, and pushed their markers over home plate in the third. The Aces' position's went on batting around. A fusillade of hits by Gleason, Le-more and Reagan, coupled with a base on balls to Anastas, was responsible for the triplet of scores. As a three-run lead was considered too small a margin by Manager Bob Ganley, he sent his forces to bat in their half with orders to pile 'em up. Three runs responded to his request in this frame and one more in the fifth. In the fourth, Klutka was given his second base on balls, after which Brennan and Cheswick singled.

It was at this point that Farrell injected his fall-to-touch-first act upon the stage of play, an observant Broadways player noticing the oversight, and "Mac" was declared out. The final inning witnessed the scoring of a solitary run for the winners for a total of ten, while Broadways' last chance came in the fourth, when they scored twice on a free pass to Farrell and hits by Willard and Sturtevant. As has happened in the majority of recently played games, the contest ended in the fifth game, the Mills being widely ruled in favor of darkness. The score:

DIXWELLS DEFEAT THE CENTRALVILLES

In a well played game the Dixwells defeated the Centralvilles Social club last night on the Centralville Twilight League grounds to the tune of 6 to 5, the game being called at the end of the first half of the sixth in favor of darkness.

The Dixwells went scoreless in the first four innings, while the Social club was piling on four runs. In the fourth the "Dixie" boys began to hit Ayotte with a vengeance and drove in six runs before the inning closed. Although the Centralville team tried hard to tie the score they could not produce the necessary wallops, with the tying run on third in the sixth. The result of this game breaks the tie that existed between these teams for second place in the Centralville Twilight League. The Dixwells, however, are now in second place, and the Social boys drop to the cellar.

In the first inning neither team produced anything in the way of a run, but the Socials pushed across three in their half of the second. Ayotte, who had been in the game, was thrown out. From then to the first of the fourth the score remained the same, when the Socials scored another on a two-out double by Ayotte. Ayotte had been mowing down the opposing batters with deadly precision.

In the last of the fourth, Ayotte was thrown out. In the fifth, the Dixwells scored two runs on a double play. Ayotte, however, was thrown out. In the sixth, the Dixwells scored two runs on a double play. Ayotte, however, was thrown out. In the seventh, the Dixwells scored two runs on a double play. Ayotte, however, was thrown out. In the eighth, the Dixwells scored two runs on a double play. Ayotte, however, was thrown out. In the ninth, the Dixwells scored two runs on a double play. Ayotte, however, was thrown out.

The Dixwells got two on in their half of the fifth but were unable to push either of them across and they were left stranded on the bases. The Socials, however, were not making the most of their advantage. In the sixth, the Dixwells scored two runs on a double play. Ayotte, however, was thrown out. In the seventh, the Dixwells scored two runs on a double play. Ayotte, however, was thrown out. In the eighth, the Dixwells scored two runs on a double play. Ayotte, however, was thrown out. In the ninth, the Dixwells scored two runs on a double play. Ayotte, however, was thrown out.

The Dixwells were just as desperate that it would not trouble them. The result of the last few minutes. Gliffa was pitching masterful ball and Ayotte was mowing down the opposing batters with deadly precision. In the last of the fourth, Ayotte was thrown out. In the fifth, the Dixwells scored two runs on a double play. Ayotte, however, was thrown out. In the sixth, the Dixwells scored two runs on a double play. Ayotte, however, was thrown out. In the seventh, the Dixwells scored two runs on a double play. Ayotte, however, was thrown out. In the eighth, the Dixwells scored two runs on a double play. Ayotte, however, was thrown out. # Baltimore Learns Goodness Can Be Overdone

By N. E. A. SERVICE
BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 23.—Three, maybe five, of those famous Baltimore Orioles are going out this fall. No wonder they smile.

Jack Dunn, Baltimore owner and manager, has done something that only one man before ever did—he's developed a team that's too strong for the company it's in.

The Orioles must be scrapped, but the scrapping will bring Dunn a handsome profit.

Against his own wishes, against the wishes of a lot of baseball men around the country, Dunn is being forced to dismantle the machine that won three straight pennants and at this moment of writing has a lead of more than 15 games in the race for the fourth straight flag.

Many years ago Connelie Mack built a better machine that was too good for the big leagues. Then he tore it down.

from choice, not because of any ultimatum.

Dunn Must Sell
Now Jack Dunn has been told by the other club owners in the International league that he must sell at least three of his stars this fall. They threatened to put the draft back on the league if he refused. He submitted, every big league club has hidden for the star Oriole players and Dunn laughed.

The Cincinnati Reds offered $60,000 for Jack Bentley, Dunn laughed.

The Giants offered $150,000 for three players—Bentley, Joe Moley and Jack Ogdin. Dunn laughed some more.

But now they're for sale.
Bentley and Moley—$100,000 each.
Max Bishop—$75,000.
Jack Ogdin and Merwin Jacobson—$50,000.
Tommy Thomas—$25,000.
Harry Frank—$25,000.
Dunn will sell three of the lot. These are about the prices he expects.

Bentley is the minors' home-run king. He has 26 last year. Thus far this year he has 14. But, little Ruth, he's a right-handed pitcher in the game. When not pitching he plays first.

Moley is one of the best shortstops in baseball. He is young and has never had a major league trial. He is now hitting .395.

Bishop is a second baseman. He has just returned to the game after an injury. Last season he was the best second sacker in the league and hit well over .300.

Merwin Jacobson is the star of the outfield. For three seasons he has been among the batting leaders.

Jack Ogdin is the best right-hander in the league. He won 32 games last year and in one winning streak made 16 in a row.

Harry Frank leads the league now. He has won 12 and lost two.

Tommy Thomas is a youngster in the box. Veterans say he is the most promising of the three. He got a bad start but is going great now. He has won 10 and lost but three.

GREATEST OLYMPIAD ON BASEBALL HISTORY ABOUT RECORD PLANNED TO REPEAT

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—(By the Associated Press.) Although the Olympic games to be held at Paris are nearly two years away, the plans are well advanced, the program is virtually complete and all indications point to a repeating of the games in 1924. This is the estimate of Allan H. Muhr, international secretary of the Olympic committee, who came to this country as captain of the French Davis Cup tennis team and is remaining in connection with his Olympic duties.

The national holding of the games has been greater than in any previous Olympiad, not only because new nations born out of the world war will enter their colorful teams, but because older nations, especially those of South America, will send teams for the first time.

The nation holding the games has the right to invite whom it will to compete. Secretary Muhr explained, "Germany's position in the society of nations will decide whether an invitation to that country shall be issued."

The Olympic games center in the events of track and field. For the first time a great stadium is under way at Colombes, to seat 50,000 persons.

The athletic stadium will have a 500-yard track with straightaways for the 100 metre dash and 110 metre hurdles events. Under the Olympic rules, all other events, such as the 100 yard dash, will be run with a single turn. Pits for jumping and vaulting will be plentiful. In the center a football and rugby field will be arranged. A permanent water ditch for the steeplechase event will be a feature.

For rowing the River Seine will be the scene, with a straightaway of two miles, allowing four boats abreast.

These events, which in the popular mind, comprise the Olympic games, will be followed by a series of many competitions that will run through most of the year.

Winter sports will have the call in January, to be held at Chamonix, in the French Alps, under conditions that will make possible a concentration of the Olympic games. The French will have the advantage of the local conditions. At that time most of the experts were selecting St. Louis as the Giants' toughest opponent. At present, however, the team to look at is John McGraw's New York Yankees.

From now on the Pittsburgh team will be watching. It is playing the ball it really is capable of.

It would be a strange coincidence if history should repeat itself, by having the Yankees and McGraw's Yankees on the wrong road as did the seven defeats in 1921 for the Pirates.

HOPE FOR WOMEN CANCER VICTIMS

In a recent article published in one of the prominent women's magazines, Dr. W. W. Keen, Professor of Surgery at Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, hints out great hope to women afflicted with cancer, provided they receive early treatment.

Dr. Keen is one of the greatest living authorities on this disease. He was president of the International Surgical Congress in Paris, 1920, and held the same honored position in 1917. Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes, recently said of him: "His professional attainments are unsurpassed. He has brought high honors to this country and made humanity his debtor."

Women are more subject to cancer than men and are not infrequently attacked in the breast, where the first evidence is a small lump. Dr. Keen says that if women, discovering this symptom would seek competent medical advice at once, he is "sure that $5 out of every 100, or it might well be 30 out of every 100, would be cured and not incurable."

"So cancer is curable," says this noted authority, "provided you consult a good surgeon at once. But remember that when you find a lump already formed the disease has been at work for weeks, and it may be for three or four months before it is discoverable. A lump has been formed. A complete operation is not a very long one. It has today, remember, practically no mortality, and recovery is complete in a week or ten days without much suffering."

After discussing the various lines of cancer research now being made, Dr. Keen expressed the opinion that physicians are gradually limiting their searches to methods which give promise of success. He adds:

"I feel as certain of our ultimate success as I do of my own existence. I am expectant, hopeful, an optimist for that glorious day to come. It will most likely come like a thief in the night to some lonely, patient, persistent worker."

The St. Joseph's Cadets defeated the Aiken street team last night by a score of 10 to 8. Next Saturday the Cadets will play the St. Columba's on the North common and on Sunday they will play the Aiken street team at South Lowell. The manager requests all Cadet players to report at the North common Friday night at 7 o'clock.

TILDEN AND RICHARDS MEET JUNIOR TITLISTS

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—The playing-through national doubles championship of the Tilden and Richards, having defeated the title holders of a quarter century ago, Dr. F. D. Dais and H. W. Wynn, succeeded in winning the title yesterday.

The Tilden and Richards were called on to play the possible coming champions, the national junior titlists, Fred Perry and J. H. Dais, of Providence, R. I., in the fourth round today.

The ladies freshmen at Harvard and at Yale resounded the athletic and veteran campaigners, Sam Hardy and S. W. Voshell, of New York in the third round yesterday.

Some of the competitors were to decide the fate of the semi-finals. The other four round brackets were incomplete.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

For the second time within a week the Emeralds secured a victory over the Tilden and Richards, being an 18 to 11 win last Sunday. Although the losers presented a lineup in excess of the Emeralds' lineup, the Tilden and Richards were defeated 19 to 10 of them. F. Gauthier featured with the stick, getting a home run. ## Cruiser Picks Up Disabled Plane

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—The cruiser Denver, which last night picked Walter Hilton and his companions of the Rio bound supplane Sampaio Correia, wrecked yesterday while enroute from the Bahamas to Haiti, reported to the navy department at noon today that she was proceeding to Guantanamo, Cuba, with the disabled plane in tow.

NATION LOOKS TO U. S.

Dr. Fujisawa Speaks With "Rooseveltian Frankness" at Williamstown

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 23.—Dr. Rikitaro Fujisawa, professor at the Imperial University at Tokyo, speaking today at the Institute of Politics with what he termed "Rooseveltian frankness," declared "while other nations have equally shown the spirit of idealism, it is upon the United States, which emerged as the strongest and richest of the great powers out of the world war, that history will focus hope in the future."

Next to the United States," he said, "stands Japan, to which Asia, if not the world, looks up for leadership in the great task of the fusion of Oriental and Occidental cultures as a basis of permanent peace. It is while the whole world is still in a molten state that supreme efforts on the part of comparatively the most favored nations like the United States and Japan, should not be spared for making the world take the form in the mould of idealism and co-operation."

"Sylpho-Nathol made Herbert's feet feel fine"

"Herbert's work keeps him on his feet for hours at a time. He walks miles and miles every day. In hot weather, his feet used to hurt him dreadfully—they would swell and get so tender he couldn't sleep at night. But Sylpho-Nathol gave him quick relief."

"Lettie Hayward told me about Sylpho-Nathol and its many uses. I bought a bottle at the druggist's. The directions recommended it for tired and aching feet."

"Herbert came home that evening with his feet driving him nearly crazy. He tried Sylpho-Nathol as soon as I told him about it. A tablespoonful in a gallon of warm water made a clean-smelling, nearly-gray solution. My dear! I wish you could have heard Herbert. 'Sylpho-Nathol is certainly a life-saver, Bess,' he said, as it goothed the soreness away. 'It's great stuff to have in the house—don't let's over be without it!'"

But Sylpho-Nathol has many other important uses. In cleaning water, it destroys germs which lurk in dust and dirt and threaten family health. As a sprinkler, it quickly dispels the unpleasant odors which come in sink pipes and drains and other hard-to-get-at places. It is indispensable in the bathroom, around the toilet fixtures and as a flush for the closet bowl. It is a dependable antiseptic, which deserves a place in every home medicine chest.

Sylpho-Nathol is 4 1/2 times stronger than carbolic acid, yet it is as safe to have about the house as a cake of soap. Your druggist or grocer has Sylpho-Nathol in four handy sizes, 15c, 35c, 65c and $1.25. If he hasn't it he can get it easily. Ask for it by name—"Sylpho-Nathol."

Father Threatened Murder

Clara, wife before the court again today, on a new charge of drunkenness. They received suspended sentences to the house of correction yesterday for a similar offense. The husband was ordered to the house of correction for two months on today's complaint. He appealed. The wife was given the same sentence but it was suspended for six months.

Joseph Weaver, for drunkenness, was sentenced to the house of correction for three months. This sentence was suspended by the court for one year. Dennis Murphy was given a suspended sentence to the state farm in Bridgewater for the same offense.

John Snowski pleaded not guilty to the charge of assault and battery on one Joseph Murphy. He was held in $200 bonds and the case continued to August 21.

The alleged proprietor of a near-by saloon at 431 Middlesex street, was arraigned before Judge Enright this morning, on the charge of illegal sale of intoxicating liquors. He pleaded not guilty and the case was held over for trial until September 2, with bonds set at $500.

He pointed out that last year, about $37,000 was used by the street department. This year's appropriation was $34,000, which was a big saving. He said that the city had a surplus of $3,000, which was a big saving. He said that the city had a surplus of $3,000, which was a big saving.

Kiddies Will Miss Outing

the big double truck street cars left in the morning until the tired, but happy, extremely happy, little bodies dragged themselves home at night the kiddies were fated and fondled from all sides. When John McManus was called away from this earth the kiddies lost a great friend.

With the passing of John McManus the kiddies ceased to be for several years, about a half dozen, if memory serves correctly. Then came Battery B with a revival of the picnic. The old name of the McManus picnic was kept in memory of the man that had

warned the hearts of many a neglected child

For a couple of years the Battery kept the picnic going. But this year, although there was a great deal of talk earlier in the year, nothing has come of it. At the time a hearing was held before the license commission, about the latter part of June, relative to the coming of a carnival to a lot in Lakeview ave., certain members of the American Legion mentioned the McManus picnic at the hearing. It was intimated that this organization would attempt to put over the affair this summer.

Legion Head Talks

When interviewed upon the subject this morning Stephen C. Garrity, commander of the local post, said that it would be impossible for the legion to stage the outing. The chief obstacle to it, he stated, is the lack of funds. He said that the legion had no money at this time through the medium of a tag day. He pointed to the fact that the school will open soon and that the children have had several parties this summer.

In his opinion the children of the city have been pretty well taken care of. About the only possible means that the legion would have to obtain the money is through a tag day and he said he believed that the public had been taxed heavily enough in this manner without asking it to donate again, even though the cause was a worthy one.

Under conditions brighter next year, he said, this organization will get an early start on the picnic proposition and will revive the old outing.

Of course there is that remote possibility that some individual or organization may come to the front and stage the picnic with a rush. This seems a little far-fetched in view of the fact that an outing of this sort requires a lot of work.

Strikers Guard Minister

The guard was reduced in a compromise with trainmen who walked out when strikers were sent to quell disturbances.

Striking shommen of the Southern Railway at Salisbury were on guard around the home of the Rev. Thomas S. Johnson, who received threatening letters, following an alleged assault upon him by a postal employee. The minister had been a champion of the shommen's strike and strikers went to his defense, maintaining guards in eight hour shifts at the preacher's home.

Western Roads for Peace

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—(By the Associated Press)—Efforts of the big two brotherhoods pulling at each other in the shop craft strike, to succeed where others failed, will be put to the test today when heads of 118 roads, meeting at the Yale club, will vote whether to accept the brotherhoods' peace proposals, or decline their good offices in favor of a fight to the finish.

Heads of the western lines entered the conference full of optimism—as they have entered each of the two previous conferences when President Harding, through his peace proposals, adopted the role of mediator.

Frankly and unreservedly these western chiefs want the strikers settled, and express a willingness to make any practical concession which will relieve their roads of a growing shortage of usable rolling stock, with a bumper crop nearly upon them, and coal mining already being resumed on a large scale.

Opposing this attitude and with forces more compactly mustered, were the heads of the powerful eastern roads, led by L. P. Loreo, of the Delaware & Hudson; W. W. Atterbury, of the Pennsylvania; A. H. Smith, of the New York Central; Frederick Underwood, of the Erie; and E. J. Pearson, of the New Haven. Their roads are in excellent condition. Their shops are well manned; they are near to the large labor markets, and they maintain they are ready to back their pledges to "stand by the loyal men who refused to strike and the new men whom we hired on promise to put them ahead of strikers on the emergency rolls."

The only eastern president about whom this group expressed any uneasiness was Daniel Willard, who, it was said, might join the "peace at any price" delegation from the west, of which Hale Holden, president of the C. B. & Q., and S. M. Felton, of the Chicago, Great Western, were pointed out as leaders.

past few days, began to clear away. There were explosions at some rail centers.

A tremendous explosion early today in the Chicago & Alton roundhouse at Venice, Ill., shook buildings within a radius of three miles and police squads were rushed to the shops when further violence was threatened. Several sticks of dynamite were thrown on the roof of the roundhouse, in which a number of men were working.

Bombs were hurled at the homes of Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe employees at San Bernardino, Cal., where daily outbreaks have marked the shopmen's strike. Windows were broken by the explosions, but no injuries were reported.

$5000 Reward for Plotters

Michigan Central officials increased should have met a tragic end at Irish hands is the darkest feature of this national calamity. He dared much and suffered much for the ideal to which he devoted his life and in the achievement of which he played such a decisive part. He has fallen now with in sight of the goal towards which he strove with such tenacity of purpose, but his death will serve only to strengthen the resolve of the Irish people that his work shall be carried to successful conclusion.

The Freeman's Journal says: "Michael Collins has fallen by the hands of his own countrymen. He dared death so often in the struggle with England that men felt that he could run all risks and emerge unharmed. That he should have been killed by an Irish bullet is a tragedy too deep for tears. Heavy as is the personal loss, the national loss is appalling."

Mr. Collins was engaged to be married to Miss Kitty Keenan, pretty daughter of a prominent business man of Cranford, County Longford.

The wedding was to have taken place as soon as Collins had completed the military operations against the irregulars.

Although it had long been understood in Dublin that Collins was contemplating marriage, no definite announcement had been made of the engagement until January 3, of this year, when he announced the fact in dramatic fashion at a meeting of the Dail Eireann. Countess Markievicz, ardent republican advocate, during a brief attack at that session on the Anglo-Irish treaty, referred to the process Mary's engagement to Viscount Lascelles, saying that perhaps she would break it to marry Collins. Collins, who was not present at this particular session was quickly informed of what the countess had said. Coming from her, he indignantly repudiated the remark of Countess Markievicz, saying her statement might cause pain to the lady in question, "and it might cause pain to the lady who is betrothed to me."

Pacific Mills' New Offer

committee said that the company could not guarantee the old scale in the cotton department beyond Dec. 1. Employees are to work at the reduction announced March 27 until Oct. 2.

"In order to clear up the misunderstanding arising from previous reports," the statement said, "the Pacific mills states that its employees are to return at the present scale and that an adjustment will be made, effective Oct. 2, and at that date retroactive to Sept. 2, as follows:

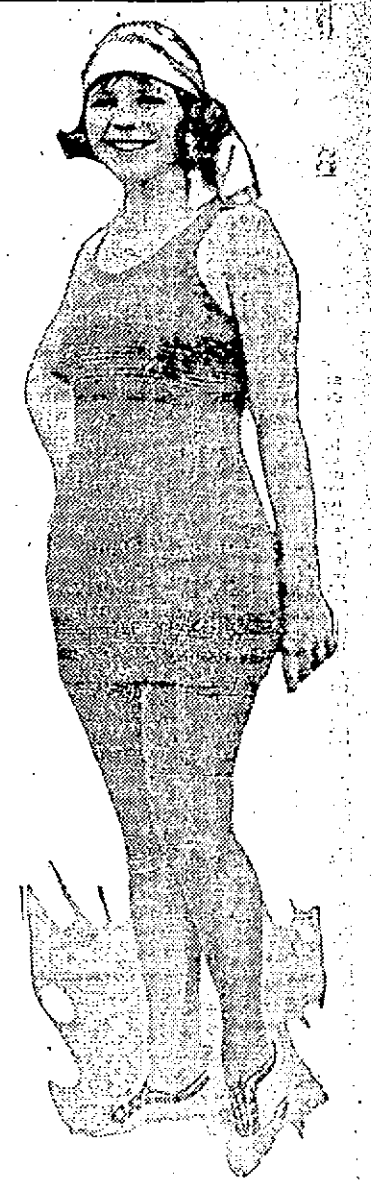

"Worsted department: The scale in effect previous to the reduction of March 27, 1922.

"Cotton department: The scale in effect previous to March 27, 1922. Because of different conditions existing in this department from the other departments, this scale cannot be guaranteed beyond Dec. 1. If it is found necessary to change this rate of wages, sufficient notice will be given employees for the purpose of arriving at a settlement satisfactory to all concerned."

The announcement said that the old scale would also be restored in the mechanical department.

The company announced last week that it would restore on the same date the former scale in its worsted department and to some of its cotton employees. Representatives of the textile unions which have been directing the strike here since last March rejected the offer.

Today's announcement was signed by Irving Southworth, assistant agent of the mills.

Says More Money Needed

the number of 50 or more, that would bring the payroll down to about $4700. He said certain transfers were to come out of this. The payroll submitted for last week to the city auditor today, and which will be acted upon by the budget and auditing commission at its meeting this afternoon, shows $5279.12. The total payroll for the department is $11,552.53, while the total city payroll is $43,512.60. The total payroll by the way, is the second largest for the year, it being exceeded only by the week of July 23. The increase over last week's, which was $13,512.50, may be explained by the fact that this week carries the playground payroll which did not appear last week, as it is customary to submit it only about every 10 days.

While certain of the men can be transferred to loan jobs enough to do the work required, Mr. Doherty explained that the loan money could not be touched to do the regular work, as at that time was not enough money available at the present time, something would have to be started in the near future.

Mayor Brown's View

When interviewed on the subject, Mayor George H. Brown had an entirely different angle of looking at the matter. He claims that more money was appropriated for labor this year than for the past 10 years.

Taking out the July 26 report of the streets and sewer department, he showed that $37,511.08 had been spent which left a balance of $355,733.74 to be expended. Added to this he said that $145,000 had been allowed in loans and with certain transfers to be made the department had more money now to do its work than was expended for the first half of the year. The mayor contended that the only way to figure out the proposition was to take the matter as a whole and total the figures in that way. Instead of looking into any one special department, in discussing the purchase of the autos for the department the mayor pointed out that if the autos had not been purchased the city would have had to pay for them in hire and in the end would be the loser.

MOTORLESS GLIDER MAY CROSS ATLANTIC

BERLIN, Aug. 23. (By the Associated Press.)—The recent success of German student aviators in motorless aviation at Gersfeld, has given rise to widespread gratification, and scientists already are discussing the likelihood of such aircraft crossing the Atlantic.

Observers of the past week's experiments, assert that if the Versailles treaty had limited the size of German warlike motors, this scientific development in aviation would not have occurred so soon.

Curtiss in Test

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Glenn H. Curtiss, pioneer in American aviation, will attempt to rise from the surface of the water in the Great South bay, off Long Island, in a motorless glider, within two weeks. It was announced by the Aeronautical chamber of commerce.

The glider, which is of a new type of construction, will be started on its first trial by releasing it from the deck of a speedboat, but later attempts will be made to have it rise unaided.

Allen Off For Germany

PARIS, Aug. 23. (By the Associated Press.)—Edmond Allen, the American pilot, who under the auspices of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, participated in the glider contest at Clermont-Ferrand, left here today with his companions for Gersfeld, Germany, determined to fly in the "sail plane" contest now in progress there, whether his trials will be considered in the competition or not.

HOWE STREET PLAYGROUND

Last Monday night the children of the Howe street playground presented a very enjoyable entertainment. The music for the occasion was furnished by a Victrola. A concert was also given for the smaller children. The program of the evening was as follows: Dance, "Aces of Diamonds" by the older girls; solo dance, Miss Dorothy Cronin; "The Shoemaker's Dance" by the younger girls; exhibition for foot, hand and body, Maryline (Pinegar); song, "I Wonder" by Helen Clancy; circle game; "As We Go Walking on Monday" closing song, community singing. Lollypops were distributed to the children by Miss Helen Lohr and Miss Ruth Whelan, who had charge of the entertainment.

Adventures of the Twins

FLAP-DOODLE ESCAPES IN DISGUISE

BUT ALL THEY SAW WAS A WHITE-FACED MONKEY

Nancy and Nick left the Tinky-Winkles grieving over their town-hall, which Flap-doodle, the mischievous fairy, had turned into a bakeoven, and went on their way.

The Twins were on the Tinky-Winkles Star hunting for Flap-doodle because he spent most of his time here. He was boss, or king, or president, or something like that.

But since he'd stolen the Fairy Queen's magic wand he'd played so many tricks on his subjects they were all after him. And you, he'd even turned the chief councillor into a chocolate rooster!

At last the Twins came to a cave. "Maybe he's in there!" whispered Nancy.

"Maybe!" agreed Nick. So they peeped.

But all they saw was a white-faced monkey hanging by his tail from a stick.

"What are you doing that for?" asked Nancy curiously.

"Oh, just for my complexion," answered the monkey, jumping down. "Who are you?"

"We're Nancy and Nick from the Earth," answered Nick. "And what's your name?"

"I've got 60," answered the monkey, grinning. "Jocko Beppo Antonio Ponce de Leon!"

"Well, call you Jocko," answered Nancy. "One name's enough. To you happen to know where Flap-doodle is hiding?"

The monkey scratched his head. "Flap-doodle?" he repeated. "What does he look like?"

The Twins told him.

"He might look like anything now, though," said the monkey. "He can change himself around, you know, if he's got the magic wand."

Suddenly the monkey disappeared, stick and all.

And as he faded from view, the children caught a flash of purple.

"Goodness!" gasped Nancy. "That was Flap-doodle himself!"

JEWELERS' ASSOCIATION NO NEW DEVELOPMENTS IN TEXTILE STRIKE

Merrimack Valley Retail Jewelers Hold Annual Outing
at Country Club

The Vesper Country club was thrown open to the members of the Merrimack Valley Retail Jewellers' association today, when more than a hundred of its members gathered for the annual outing. The Lowell contingent left this city about 10.30 this morning, joined hands with their brethren from other cities in the valley at a delightful dinner at 1 p. m.

Under the supervision of Edward Coter, a series of golf matches, singles and four-somes, were run off to the immense interest and amusement of the gathering.

Other sporting events, including races and a baseball game, were arranged for the afternoon and quickly brought the joyful members to the realization that home time was fast approaching.

The festive exercises were opened by President Joseph Harris of Lawrence, who introduced as the principal speaker of the day, Mr. John J. Morgan of the Morgan Advertising agency of Boston.

Other speakers were Henry Arnold of Boston, Col. S. O. Higney of Littleton, E. P. Alley of Milford, W. J. Marshall and A. S. Finner of Lowell, and Maurice Watch company and Maurice Thane of Providence. A program of song and recitation was interspersed with the speaking, leading to an undiminished balance to the festivities.

The general committee responsible for the day's success was as follows: Frank Richards, J. H. Abbott, Edward Coter, Willie Pettier, Arthur Demonting of Lowell, and A. U. Burke of Nashua.

WORCESTER'S MAYOR VISITS LOWELL

Local democrats about Merrimack square early last evening were afforded an opportunity of meeting Mayor Peter Sullivan of Worcester, a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor, and many availed themselves of the chance to meet the democratic mayor of a rival city, who has won out on two successive occasions. Dr. Joseph W. Jantzen was among the first to greet the visiting mayor, and his machine was soon surrounded by young men who have heard of him and were curious to see him.

Mayor Sullivan made no speeches, but arrangements were made at once by some of his workers to start Sullivan clubs in Lowell. He told the gathering that he believed his chances excellent and promised to speak before the people of this city before the primaries, telling them why he should receive their votes.

A number of local members of the legislature, past and present, knew Mayor Sullivan when he represented his district in the state senate, previous to his election to his present office.

DEATHS

GIFFORD—Gustaf T. Gifford of 203 Appleton street died in Springfield, August 15. He had been a resident of Lowell for 30 years, coming here when he was a young man. ## WILL NOT BE FORCED TO PAY $1,361,706

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—An alternative verdict of a federal court jury here last March, whereby the sugar exporting firm of Ignacio Moss, of Buenos Aires, was not held to pay an award of $1,361,706, to the receiver of the E. H. Sherbourne company, of this city, was entered in federal court today.

A jury last March after hearing evidence in the breach of contract suit brought against the South American concern, returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, but stipulated that should certain points of law concerning the legality of the contract be decided for the defendant, a decision should be found for the latter. Federal Judge Morton decided these points today in favor of Moss and the alternative verdict became automatically effective.

RICKER WANTED FOR MANY THEFTS

WESTERLY, R. I. Aug. 22.—Robert D. Ricker, of Boston, who was arrested Monday as one of the three men who snatched $300 from the teller's cage of the Industrial Trust company here, was today identified as Maurice Handelman, alias George (Reddy) Handelman, who is wanted in Portland, Me., and in Troy, N. Y., for robbery and bank thefts. His two alleged accomplices escaped with $250.

Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown received information that Ricker was wanted in Portland, on an indictment charging larceny. The prisoner will be arraigned here tonight. Police today were checking up reports that Ricker had taken part in numerous bank and jewelry robberies throughout the country.

MERRIMACK COUNCIL, F. OF A.

At a meeting of Merrimack council, F. of A. held last night in the hall of the city hall, a very large number of the 43rd anniversary of the council which is to be held this year, on October 1, was celebrated. Mr. Gailagher was in the chair. Mr. Gailagher was appointed chairman of the anniversary committee and Thomas E. Brown was elected secretary. A million will be named at later meetings to look after details connected with the celebration.

WILL FIT SO MANY

A complete and balanced city after the most approved plan and arrangements and conveniences—above all things and preliminary in all things—its economy in operation and simplicity in facilities and handiness and no lack of room and no lack of daylight and no lack of rail and convenient and no lack of city conveniences and no lack of desirable features—altogether there is no reason to divide these premises either as a whole or in part. There are too large—and there is no reason not to take a part of these premises because they are just as desirable in part as they are in their entirety—nevertheless the premises divide perfectly. The plan is on the easterly side of Union avenue, extends through to the westerly side of Holliston ave., none of it has been constructed for seven years—and part of it is in the hands of the very best variety of trunk lines of trolley cars, is in the hands of the very best variety of quality and character of labor. A manufacturing property for any use—that is in the midst of neighboring plants like those about this one—should not have to be more than spoken of. The entire property under Deoras of Court is pledged without limit to reserve to the owner the right to sell or lease the same in whole or in part to suit purchasers—including more than five hundred lots of machinery and mechanical equipment and personal property in dispersal.

ALL FREE FROM ENCUMBRANCE

The sale to take place upon the premises on Thursday the 31st day of August 1922 commencing promptly at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon regardless of any condition of the weather with the first of the sale completed sometime in the afternoon. An illustrated and descriptive catalogue upon application at the office of the auctioneers, where all inquiries must also be made. Samuel Reish Trustee by Pullman and Conley, His Attorneys.

FINALS IN PLAYGROUND GIRLS' TRACK MEET

The finals of the playground girls' track meet to determine the championship of the city will be held tomorrow on the South common. The meet is open to all girls in the city under the age of 16 and already the following playgrounds have signified their intention of being represented: Shedd, Moody, Fayette, Butler, South and North commons, Washington, Morley, Lakeview avenue, Aiken, Greenwald and Varnum. The events will include a 60-yard dash for girls under 12, two similar events for girls from 12 to 15 years of age; a running high jump, standing broad jump, 3-legged race and 100 yard relay races. James Linton will act as clerk of course.

It is expected that at least 150 entrants will compete for the valuable prizes and all first place winners, a suitable prize will be presented, while the best all-around athlete will receive a special award.

Y., for robbery and bank thefts. His two alleged accomplices escaped with $250.

Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown received information that Ricker was wanted in Portland, on an indictment charging larceny. The prisoner will be arraigned here tonight. Police today were checking up reports that Ricker had taken part in numerous bank and jewelry robberies throughout the country.

MERRIMACK COUNCIL, F. OF A.

At a meeting of Merrimack council, F. of A. held last night in the hall of the city hall, a very large number of the 43rd anniversary of the council which is to be held this year, on October 1, was celebrated. Mr. Gailagher was in the chair. Mr. Gailagher was appointed chairman of the anniversary committee and Thomas E. Brown was elected secretary. A million will be named at later meetings to look after details connected with the celebration.

WILL FIT SO MANY

A complete and balanced city after the most approved plan and arrangements and conveniences—above all things and preliminary in all things—its economy in operation and simplicity in facilities and handiness and no lack of room and no lack of daylight and no lack of rail and convenient and no lack of city conveniences and no lack of desirable features—altogether there is no reason to divide these premises either as a whole or in part. There are too large—and there is no reason not to take a part of these premises because they are just as desirable in part as they are in their entirety—nevertheless the premises divide perfectly. The plan is on the easterly side of Union avenue, extends through to the westerly side of Holliston ave., none of it has been constructed for seven years—and part of it is in the hands of the very best variety of trunk lines of trolley cars, is in the hands of the very best variety of quality and character of labor. A manufacturing property for any use—that is in the midst of neighboring plants like those about this one—should not have to be more than spoken of. The entire property under Deoras of Court is pledged without limit to reserve to the owner the right to sell or lease the same in whole or in part to suit purchasers—including more than five hundred lots of machinery and mechanical equipment and personal property in dispersal.

WILL NOT BE FORCED TO PAY $1,361,706

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—An alternative verdict of a federal court jury here last March, whereby the sugar exporting firm of Ignacio Moss, of Buenos Aires, was not held to pay an award of $1,361,706, to the receiver of the E. H. Sherbourne company, of this city, was entered in federal court today.

A jury last March after hearing evidence in the breach of contract suit brought against the South American concern, returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, but stipulated that should certain points of law concerning the legality of the contract be decided for the defendant, a decision should be found for the latter. Federal Judge Morton decided these points today in favor of Moss and the alternative verdict became automatically effective.
